SUNDAY EVENING, APRIL 14th.

At the evening service Miss Ella Twitmire will sing "Rock of Ages" and Rev. Samuel Creighton, of Salona, will preach.

Would Be Burglars Foiled.

Burglars made attempts to break into the postoffice at Salona Tuesday night. The lock on the door and the fasteners on the windows were all tampered with, but they did not succeed in breaking them. They also endeavored to effect an entrance into the station. They broke the lock on the door, but could not remove the dead latch. Nothing was taken at either place. It is about a year since the Salona station was burglarized.

Fifty Years a Tramp.

Pennsylvania's oldest tramp, John Lynch, an octogenarian, died in the Reading almshouse, Monday, after fifty years of wandering life. It was his boast that for over half a century he had slept under the open sky or in the shelter of barns.

Married.

On the 27th, at Hublersburg, Pa., by Rev. H. I. Crow, Chas. W. Culby, of Parvin, to Miss Ella E. Beightol, of Cedar Springs, Clinton county, Pa.

—An explosion about noon on Friday at the works of the Cambria Powder company, near Ninevah, Westmoreland county, demolished four of the 19 buildings constituting the plant, and entailed a loss of $10,000. Four hundred kegs of powder went up and caused the damage. The explosion took place while the men were at dinner, and so all escaped injury. The powder was stored in the mixer house, and how it was ignited is not known. The Cambria Powder Co., began business on Feb. 26. Seventy-five stockholders are interested, many of them from Pittsburg, W. P. Pressing, of that city, being secretary. The damage will be repaired at once.

—A small vacant house owned by the Mill Hall brick works and situated a short distance below the company's plant, at Mill Hall, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. The fire department responded very promptly to the alarm but as the line of hose was not sufficient to reach the fire they did not go into service.

—A fierce cyclone visited McKee's Gap Friday morning. Two Bedford county hucksters were caught by the storm, which blew the top off of one wagon and upset the other one and destroyed about fifty dozen eggs. Harry Stoner, who was driving one wagon, was thrown out and injured about the face. John Clapper suffered the loss of the eggs and a broken wagon.

—At a meeting of directors of the West Branch Valley railroad company, held last week, the capital stock was increased from $1,110,000 to $3,768,000.

—It is proposed to make the occasion of the 125th anniversary of American Independence one of the big days of the year at the Pan American Exposition.

Governor Allen sailed from San Juan for New York Sunday.

SCRANTON AND ITS WOES

It Has Passed From a Third Into a Second Class City.

RECORDER MOIR'S AX FELL HARD

He "Ripped" City Solicitor Vosburg Out of Office and Appointed His Private Attorney to the Vacancy Thus Made.

TOO MANY COMMON COUNCILMEN

Scranton, Pa., April 2.—Scranton made her transit Monday from the third to the second class of cities and proceeded to do business under the celebrated Muehlbronner act and its more celebrated "ripper" schedule. The reorganization ordinance which is to carry the act into effect was vetoed by Recorder Moir because of alleged inconsistencies, and strictly speaking the new charter has not as yet been accepted, but as there is no choice in the matter but to accept, a new ordinance will at once be passed to meet the views of the recorder. His principal objection to it was that it attempted to join the office of delinquent tax collector to that of treasurer, The recorder is given the right to appoint the collector and proposes to execute that right.

Select council reorganized by electing C. E. Chittenden, republican, as chairman over J. J. Costello, democrat, by a party vote of 11 to 10.

In common council the democrats started out to organize on a basis of twenty-one and the republicans attempted to organize with a membership of thirty-nine. The democrats are in the majority in the smaller council. The expanded council is a tie. The democrats allege that the seventeen additional members provided for by the new charter were not regularly elected. The democrats succeeded in organizing the council of twenty-one, while the republicans had to give up their attempt to organize a council of thirty-nine, because of their inability to secure a democrat to join with them in making a quorum of twenty. The seventeen rejected members will go into court to get possession of their seats. Pandemonium reigned during the hour that the rival parties were trying to organize separate councils in the one room. No violence, however, ensued.

Frank H. Clemons was appointed director of safety ; John E. Roche, director of public works, and Fred Fuller, director of charities. Mr. Roche is the democratic leader of select council and was the democratic candidate for mayor against Moir 2 years ago. Every subordinate official and employe was re-appointed to a position nearest akin to the one he formerly held. The one exception was John A. Neals, democratic member of the board of city assessors. Politics, however, did not control his dismissal.

In his annual message, Recorder Moir dwelt at length upon the clause of the Muelbronner act which permits a city to tax as high as it pleases any corporation doing business within its borders. Heretofore as a third class city, Scranton could not tax them more than $100 a year. The recorder advised making them pay liberally towards the city's expenses.

—The chances for State college putting an excellent base ball team in the field this season are very bright. The number of candidates for the various positions is larger than in former years, and the interest taken by the whole college is likely to bring about good results. The regular daily practice has begun and some of the old men will have a hard time holding their positions.

—Ground has been broken for an extensive addition which Proprietor James Passmore intends building to his hotel in Philipsburg. The new portion will have a frontage of 46 feet on Front street and be three stories high.

The Prussian Minister of Railways has expressed his great surprise at the restricted employment of women in the railway service, especially as booking clerks, for the sale of tickets, etc., and has ordered that they are to be engaged more extensively.

The man in Mississippi who does not pay a poll tax cannot vote or serve on juries, and official returns show that 29,371 white citizens have neglected to pay up this year. This neglect disfranchises them for two years.

An ingrowing nail having caused blood poisoning, Mrs. Charles Mowery, of Shamokin, Pa., is likely to die.

—Mrs. Stanley Watson, of near Gum Stump, is very ill with palsy. She is a sister of Mrs. Wm. Hampton of this place.

THE CONTEST IS OVER.

Strohm Lose Wins a Free Scholarship at the Expense of The Daily News By Majority of 158.

The Daily News Free Scholarship contest which has been going on for the past three months and which has excited wide spread attention all over the county came to a close at noon Monday. Strohm Lose, of Bellefonte, is the lucky winner who will receive a course in mechanical and architectural drawing in the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., at the expense of the Daily News.

There were three leading contestants for the prize, namely, Strohm Lose, Stanley Valentine and Frank Graham and the fight was close and exciting. Valentine had the lead up to Saturday night and looked like a sure winner but Lose played a trump card at the finish and won out in fine style. The total vote cast was over 15000. The final vote was as follows:

Strohm Lose,	B'f'te	5281
Stanley Valentine,	"	5123
Frank Graham,	"	3610

Rev. H. C. Holloway D. D., pastor of the Lutheran church, C. C Shuey and W. Harrison Walker Esq., were selected as judges and will testify to the fairness of the count.

Legislature Says, No Local Option.

Representative Leard's local option bill was defeated in the House on Tuesday. The bill provided : In no case shall a license be granted to any applicant or applicants when it shall be made known to the court that a majority of the qualified voters, as shown by the number voting at the last preceding Presidential election, of any such ward, borough or township, shall appeal by remonstrance against the granting of the same.

The W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon League were urging the passage of the bill and its defeat will be deeply deplored by its supporters. The Centre county members, Allison and Thompson, voted for the bill.

—A Seattle firm made a bid for the construction of one of the vessels for the navy, but its figures were $100,000 too high. Without delay the citizens of Seattle subscribed an amount sufficient to make up the estimated loss to the shipbuilding company and enabled it to secure the contract.

F. H. Zabriskie, 27 years old, son of a Princeton (N. J.) clergyman, committed suicide by shooting in New York. Despondency.

—Carter H. Harrison was on Tuesday elected mayor of Chicago for the third time.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

Wily Aguinaldo Has Taken the Oath of Allegiance.

HIS FUTURE BEING CONSIDERED

War Department People Are Looking Into the Matter, as They will Have Final Disposition of the Celebrated Case.

MAY PROVE TO BE VERY USEFUL

Washington, April 3.—The war department received information from Gen. MacArthur that Aguinaldo has taken the oath of allegiance to the United States under the terms of amnesty offered by Gen. MacArthur by direction of the president. The dispatch conveying this information contained much more than was given to the public. The portion withheld related to the future disposition of Aguinaldo and made suggestions as to what the late chief of the insurrection might accomplish. No official statement could be obtained as to what finally would be done with the prisoner, but it was stated that he would be held for the present, but would be granted all possible immunity consistent with existing conditions. Gen. MacArthur has hopes that a great deal may be accomplished through Aguinaldo. During the time he has been prisoner, he has made quite a favorable impression upon Gen. MacArthur.

It has been suggested that under the terms of the notice of amnesty the prisoner should be set at liberty at once, but there is a preceding amnesty proclamation which says that those who have violated the laws of war are excepted from its terms. Whether or not Gen. MacArthur has satisfied himself that Aguinaldo has not violated the laws of war cannot be stated, as the prisoner would be permitted to take the oath pending an investigation of his past conduct. Aguinaldo, having been the head of the insurrection, undoubtedly can be held until further investigation is made, or until the circumstances which surround the situation in the Philippines make it advisable to release him outright or otherwise dispose of him.

These conditions and the general situation and Aguinaldo's relation to them were the subject of Gen. MacArthur's dispatch and are being considered by the authorities here, who will have the final disposition of the matter.

The news of Aguinaldo's action was received with evident satisfaction by the war department and the opinion was expressed that good result would follow among those who have been still holding out against the United States.

The commander will throw the burden of war, as much as lies within his power, on the disloyal citizens of the revolted portion or province and if he deems it appropriate, or if his government demands of him that every citizen shall by an oath of allegiance, declare his fidelity to the legitimate government, he may expel, transfer, imprison, or fine the revolting citizens who refuse to take the oath, etc.

"Whether it is expedient to do so, and whether reliance can be placed upon such oath, the commander or his government have the right to decide."

The oath referred to is as follows :

"I hereby renounce all allegiance to any and all so-called revolutionary governments in the Philippine Islands, and recognize and accept the supreme authority of the United States of America therein; I do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to that government; that I will at all times conduct myself as a faithful and law abiding citizen of the said islands, and will not, either directly or indirectly, hold correspondence with or give intelligence to an enemy of the United States, nor will I abet, harbor or protect such enemy; that I impose upon myself these voluntary obligations without any mental reservations or purpose of evasion, so help me God."

Archbald Appointed.

All hope of our fellow-townsman, Judge John G. Love, receiving the appointment as Judge of the newly created middle federal judicial district of Pennsylvania is dead. President McKinley Friday named Judge Archbald, of Lackawanna county, for the place, and selected Ex-State Senator McCarrell, of Dauphin county, for District Attorney, and Ex-Congressman Fred C. Leonard, of Potter county, for Marshall.

Twenty cotton mills in Fall River, Mass., closed Saturday until April 8, affecting 8,000 employes.

The Indiana glass plants in the United States will be closed May 11 until late in the fall.

Rev. Bright Honored.

We clip from the "Daily Globe," of Shelby, Ohio, where Rev. Geo. S. Bright, a native of Aaronsburg, Centre county, and former pastor of the Philipsburg Lutheran church, is now located, the following article which is of interest to Mr. Bright's friends here :

"The Rev. George S. Bright, the new pastor of the Lutheran church, is an active member of the Modern Woodmen of America. March 18 he received a letter from the Philipsburg Camp, No. 5745, M. W. of A. The letter is as follows :

"Philipsburg, Pa.

"Rev. Geo. S. Bright :

"Esteemed Neighbor—We are sorry to know that destiny has removed you to another field of labor, thus causing our loss to be another community's gain, and severing our mutual relations and associations which have been of the pleasantest nature, socially and in the camp. As a token of the appreciation of your valued service, interest and relations in the camp and otherwise, it is with great pleasure that we present you with the accompanying chain and charm and ask you to accept the same with the best wishes of Philipsburg Camp, 5745, M. W. of A. At the same time we wish you wealth, health and happiness and after a long and useful life, we hope your M. W. of A. certificate will be in force and a part of your valued estate.

"Fraternally yours,

"Philipsburg Camp.

"The Rev. Mr. Bright has received the chain and charm and greatly appreciates the kindness of the camp of which he is a member. He will doubtless have his membership transferred to this camp and become an active member of the local camp. The Woodmen will welcome the Rev. Mr. Bright to their camp."

Altoona Will Have a Big Reception for the Forty-third Volunteers.

Altoona is determined to celebrate the home-coming of the Forty-third volunteer regiment from the Philippines in an elaborate manner. There are more Altoona and Blair county men in the Forty-third regiment than in any other now in the service of the United States government, Capt. John S. Fair occupying the highest office among the number. The committees now active in arranging for the reception are a general executive committee with Mayor Giles at its head, an invitation committee, one on banquet, another on decoration, another on amusements, another on music and parade and one on publicity. A finance committee is also being carefully selected.

Judging from the spread that is now being made of the matter, Altoona will have one of the biggest times known in her history. She proposes if possible to upset all former records and perch on the carcass of bygone displays and demonstrations.

Licenses in Blair County.

A bitter legal contest in the Blair county court, between the forces of the Anti-Saloon League and the Knights of the Royal Arch, the hotel men's organization ended Friday, when the court granted 65 licenses, held over 4 and refused 12 applicants.

The towns of Bellwood and Juniata go dry. The Court held that the number of business failures among the hotel men warranted the restriction rather than the expansion of the number of licensed houses.

Death of a Prominent Lumberman.

Samuel McCammant, of the planing mill firm of McCammant & Co., of Tyrone, died Saturday morning at 2 o'clock of Bright's disease, aged 68 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, one of the latter being postmaster at Tyrone. Mr. McCammant was well known throughout the state. He was president of the board of managers of the Huntingdon Reformatory. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Has a Double in Every Town.

From the Kansas City Star.

The story about the successful impersonation of William Jennings Bryan by an orator in Buffalo who made a speech to a number of students is amusing, but not exciting. Mr. Bryan is a man of more or less heroic and distinguished appearance, but it is a curious fact that there is not a town of any considerable size in the country that cannot fish up a man who looks enough like him to pass for the real thing.

The seventh annual meeting of the National Municipal League, and the ninth conference for good city government, will be held at Rochester, N. Y., on May 8, 9, 10.

—The Valley Iron Works at Williamsport, is to be enlarged. The sum of $25,000 will be spent in making improvements.

Additional Locals.

—Ira R. Burns has been appointed postmaster at Bellwood.

—Fire in the business section of Bedford on Friday caused a loss of $60,000.

—Perry Moran and family have moved from Hecla Park to a farm at Unionville.

—The board of pardons met at Harrisburg Wednesday and ordered a re-hearing of the James Cornelly case.

—Running sores, ulcers, boils, pimples, etc.' quickly cured by Banner Salve, the most healing salve in the world. A sure cure for piles. All Druggist.

—Mrs. Henry Hoffman was taken with a paralytic stroke Thursday evening at her home on West Logan street. Her condition is reported as being very serious.

—V. B. Conklin, Bowersville, O., says: "I received more benefit from Foley's Kidney Cure than from months' of treatment by physicians." All Druggist.

—Senator William C. Heinle was among those who made eulogistic addresses at the Memorial exercises in honor of the late Senator C. L. Magee held in the Senate chamber at Harrisburg Wednesday.

—There was a report on the streets to the effect that there was diphtheria at the residence of John Sourbeck on East Bishop street. This is not true at all. John Sourbeck Jr., had a slight sore throat but is entirely well now.

—B. Presson, Pressonville, Kans. writes: "Nothing like Foley's Honey and Tar," is the universal verdict of all who have used it. Especially has this been true of coughs accompanying la grippe. Not a single bottle failed to give relief. Sold by All Druggist.

—Quite a large crowd gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sechler, on South Potter street Thursday evening, in honor of their eldest daughter, Miss May. Games, music, refreshments, etc., were enjoyed by those present, after which all departed for their respective homes, having spent a most delightful evening.

—Jonathan Tressler, of Linden Hall, went through a rather serious experience last week. A stray dog had been annoying him, and he concluded to put his dogship out of existence. and accordingly loaded his gun and took a bead on the canine. The weapon was defective and exploded, resulting in the bursting of Mr. Tressler's ear drum and burning his face with powder.

—A peculiar accident, by which Mrs. Zachariah Brinker, of Scottdale, was badly burned and her house damaged by fire occurred Thursday morning. Mr. Brinker had placed a bucket of paint, with which he intended painting a roof, on a stove. In attempting to lift it off a few drops were spilled and the paint blazed up to the ceiling, setting the kitchen on fire. Mr. Brinker threw the burning paint bucket out of the house and was endeavoring to extinguish the fire, when Mrs. Brinker came into the kitchen to assist him. She fell into the flames and was frightfully burned on the hands and face. A great part of her clothing was burned off.

—The cave recently discovered near Mapleton is said to rival in beauty and natural phenomena, if not in size the famous Mammoth Cave of Kentucky. The mouth of the cave is very noticeable from the passing trains on the Pennsylvania railroad, just across the Juniata river from the town of Mapleton, and was unearthed in the lime stone quarry of Messrs. Swope & Gayton some four months ago. The windings of the cavern have been followed for seven-eighths of a mile and the end not yet reached. It is believed to extend for miles into the mountain side as thus far there has been no indication of a terminus. Among other features of the cave is a great corridor extending for half a mile in almost a straight line with a uniform height and width of more than twelve feet and it is a picturesque beauty. A great many people from all sections of the county have visited the cavern during the past few months.

Get Instant Relief from Piles

This most irritating disease relieved in ten minutes by using Dr. Agnew's Ointment, and a cure in from three to six nights. Thousands testify of its goodness. Good for Eczema, Salt Rheum, and all skin diseases. If you are without faith, one application will convince. 35 cts.—64
Sold by F. P. Green.

—Contrary to expectations among produce dealers, there is a sharp decline in the potato market, owing to the immense crop north and west. Within the past ten days the prices dropped from 75 cents to 55 cents in the larger cities. The probability is that potatoes will be cheap all spring.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

—An eminent scientist has informed the world that the sun is shrinking at the rate of 9 inches in diameter every day. This seems startling information, because if this shrinkage continues the sun must eventually dwindle to the size of an orange, and life on the earth perish for want of light and heat. But our readers need not be perturbed, for we are assured that the process of reduction can continue for 40,000 years before there will be any appreciable difference, and we do not suppose any one who reads this will be dependent on the heat of the sun for warmth in March, 41901.

METHODISTS IN SESSION.

Central Pennsylvania Conference Held Its Annual Session.

AT HISTORIC CHAMBERSBURG, PA.

Opened Wednesday Morning With Bishop Foss Presiding—A Hearty Welcome Extended to all Visitors.

THE BISHOP'S EARNEST ADDRESS

CHAMBERSBURG, March 28.—Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock the Central Penn'a. conference of the Methodist Episcopal church convened in its 33rd annual session in this beautiful "Queen City" of this far famed Cumberland valley, under the presidency of Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, D. D., of Philadelphia. This is the third time the conference has met in this historic town. The first time was on the 15th of March, 1873, under the presidency of Bishop Stephen M. Merrill. The second time was ten years later on the 14th of March, 1883, under the presidency of the illustrious pulpit orator, Bishop Simpson. And now, after the lapse of 18 years the conference returns once more to the scene of its earlier sessions.

The election of Rev. T. S. Wilcox as secretary, Rev. John Horning as treasurer, Rev. N. N. Hartman, statistical secretary, followed the calling of the roll.

At the morning session addresses were made by Rev. Dr. J. H. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate; Rev. Dr. Geo. P. Mains, of the Methodist Book concern; Dr. M. C. B. Mason, corresponding secretary of the Freedman's Aid society; Dr. Jas. H. Morrow, secretary of the Penn'a. Bible society; Rev. Dr. Wm. V. Kelly, editor of the Methodist Review.

The anniversary of the Sunday school union and Tract society this afternoon was addressed by Dr. T. B. Neely and Dr. Morrow.

At the anniversary of the Freedman's Aid society the church was crowded. Addresses were made by Dr. M. C. Mason and Rev. J. C. Bickle.

In the Bishop's address, at the morning session, he made a fervent appeal for united effort in the forward movement for spiritual revival and the destruction of the forces of evil, threatening the life of the church and the safety of society.

This conference has 5 districts, 292 members, 248 charges, with 606 churches, worth $2,791,958; 198 parsonages and 63,078 full church members and 5,883 probationers. The collections of the various charges last year were $11,651,830.

More than usual interest attaches to the present session of the conference, not, I am glad to say, because of election to the general conference or appointments of presiding elders, but because of at least two matters entirely out of the ordinary. One is the reunion between the historic old Baltimore conference, the mother conference of American Methodism, and the Central Penn'a. conference. The Central Penn'a. conference is the youngest daughter of the old Baltimore conference, and a very large fraction of the membership of this conference began their ministry in the Baltimore conference. At that time the territory of the Baltimore conference embraced a large part of our State. Eighteen years ago the Baltimore conference held its session in Hagerstown, Md., at the same time that this conference met in this place. A very delightful reunion was held by the two bodies at Chambersburg the Central Penn'a. conference acting the part of host. This year the Baltimore conference again meets in Hagerstown, and by special arrangement our conference meets on the same day, in the same place where it met 18 years ago. And the great social and fraternal feature of the session is another reunion. This time the Central Penn'a. conference goes to Hagerstown, as the guest of the Baltimore conference. This interesting event is scheduled for Monday next, the entire day being practically devoted to it. By the courtesy of the Cumberland Valley railroad company a special train will be placed at the disposal of the conference, which will convey the body to Hagerstown and back free of charge.

To Fix Division Lines.

Representative Troxell, of Lycoming county, Wednesday introduced a bill into the legislature which provides for the creating of a committee, consisting of Samuel Neyhard, of Columbia county; C. T. Biehl, of Union county, and Flavius David, of Clinton county, to mark and fix the division lines between Lycoming county and Tioga county.

Given up to Die With Croup.

Mrs. P. L. Cordier of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup, the doctor said she could not live and I gave her up to die. I went to the store and got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life. For sale by all Druggist.

"Oh, he's the kind that thinks he can hold on to his umbrella by having his name engraved on the handle."

Must Stand Trial for Murder.

D. W. Maddox, who has figured in Clinton county court proceedings for various offenses, and who has served terms of imprisonment, in the Fayette county jail at Uniontown, awaiting trial on the charge of murder, under the name of David Maxwell.

The Altoona Tribune gives the following particulars:

David Maxwell, the man who brought the news to this city of the shooting affray at Connellsville, in which William West, Jr., the Altoona boy, was fatally injured, is in jail at Uniontown, to await trial on the charge of murder. The coroner's jury, in investigating into West's death, rendered a verdict that he met death at the hands of some one unknown. Maxwell testified before the jury and told a story which differed from the one he told here. The jury in its verdict asked that Maxwell and his two partners, Geo. Williams and James Wilson be remanded to jail to await a further investigation.

Wednesday County Detective MacBeth made information against Maxwell charging him with murder. Williams and Wilson, who are confined in the Hollidaysburg jail, will be held as witnesses.

Maxwell, should not be convicted on the charge, will be brought back to Blair county to answer the charge of being implicated in the Hollidaysburg safe robbery and the shooting of Railroad Policeman Thomas Tierney. Railroad Officer Hopkins was in Uniontown Thursday and left a warrant with the sheriff of Fayette county so that he cannot escape being brought to justice.

The impression of the shooting of young West in Connellsville is that it was a case of murder, and that it was committed by Maxwell and his companions. They are believed to be the persons who have been committing the numerous robberies in that vicinity recently.

—A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every women should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 31 stamps for cloth covered. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Postoffice Notes.

The Pan-American series of postage stamps, in 1, 2, 4, 5, 8 and 10 cent denominations, will be ready for issue to postmasters about April 25, to be placed on sale to the public May 1st, and until October 31st, 1901. The stamps of the Pan-American series are not intended to be sold exclusively in place of stamps of the regular series, and a supply of the latter must be carried in stock by all postmasters. The Pan-American stamps will be sold to purchasers only when asked for. Stamped envelopes or postal cards will not be issued with the Pan-American stamps imprinted thereon.

On and after April 1st next, the United State domestic rates of postage shall apply to all mail matter passing between the United States and Cuba.

Postmasters at free delivery offices are requested to send the names and numbers to the department of the three letter carriers at their offices who registered the greatest number of articles on their routes during the six months ending June 30th, 1901.

A Raging, Roaring Flood

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had Consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles by F. Potts Green, druggist. Price 50c.

Looking at Their Photographs.

The photographs of half a hundred women who are anxious to marry 'Squire James McKeage, of Rauchtown, adorn the walls of the bachelor's lonely residence. These were sent as the result of McKeage's sale, which was made necessary by his futile efforts to secure a wife. Some of the faces are pretty and some are not, but McKeage treats them all the same. He is busy building frames for each and every one. He confesses that he has his favorites, and is at present in active correspondence with several of the owners of the faces.

Bonds are Worthless.

In a decision Wednesday Judge Archbald declared that $70,000 worth of improvement bonds issued by the city of Williamsport were worthless. When West Third street in that city was asphalted the city paid the contractors with bonds issued against the stock holders. The contractors sold to the highest bidders. The property owners refused to settle and suits were instituted.

AN INDIAN CIGAR SIGN.

The Fate That Overtook One Aggressive Wooden Savage.

The city of Little Muddy, on the upper Yellowstone, was an exceedingly wide awake town in 1887. When it had reached the mature age of 3 months, every kind of business man was represented except the cigar dealer, and the next week a man from Chicago named Stark opened a tobacco store, with a large, gaudy and aggressive wooden Indian in front, holding a tomahawk savagely in one hand and a bunch of cigars in the other. It would take a chapter to tell of all the trouble Stark had with that wooden aborigine. This variety of sign was rare in that region, and gentlemen not unconnected with the stock growing industry who came in from the ranges wearing spurs and weapons would resent his threatening attitude—for that matter, no Indian, even the most peaceably disposed, was popular. He was knocked off his pedestal half a dozen times a day. Stark learned to know what had happened whenever he heard a dull crash in front and would step outside and restore his fallen warrior.

But the red man did not meet his Waterloo till Tobe Hartley and a friend, preserved to us under the name of Long Isaac, came in from the Lightning's Nest neighborhood. A close friendship existed between these two worthies. It was their first vacation from the ranch for several months. They wandered about town in a receptive mood and sought to enjoy their visit. No facts are extant concerning their condition after some hours, but we may perhaps be allowed our suspicions. Finally they separated, and Tobe, coming along to the Indian and not noticing his upraised hatchet, sat down at his feet to rest. He soon fell asleep and sank lower. At this juncture Isaac came around the corner and took in the tragic situation at a glance.

"Killed my partner for a simple bunch of cigars, did you?" he cried. "Well, we'll see about it!" and he produced his firearms and began shooting accurately and rapidly. At the end of ten minutes Stark gathered up his noble savage in a basket, while the resuscitated Tobe and the avenging Isaac moved off arm in arm.—Harper's Magazine.

BATTLES OF NATURE.

Unceasing Struggles Which End In Survival of Fittest.

We read the tablets of long ago which the geologist has deciphered for us, and we find them an endless story of battles. The successful species which occupy the great geological horizons have come out of great tribulation. The trilobites and stone lilies of the silurian period, the gigantic club moss and fluted sigillarians of the coal age, the enormous ammonites of the jurassic and chalk epochs, the mighty elephants and majestic deer forms of the tertiary era are magnates of the times and masterpieces of the struggle. They have been redeemed at great price, even of a thousand species and tens of thousands of individuals who fell short of the typical fitness and were killed out. These magnates, each in its turn, were pioneers of progress, like the scouts of a great army and were caught in a physiological ambush.

The pedigree of the horse in the most recent past has been made out, traced shall we say, for a hundred thousand years before man came on the scene (for Lord Kelvin asked the geologist to hurry up and not be too lavish with time or we should have said 250,000 years before man). The fleetness, grace and strength of the horse are owing to his ability to walk on one toe, to which have been correlated the wonderful instincts by which he has become the partner of man in his industries and struggles. He has been derived in almost a strict gradation from the two toed, three toed, four toed and five toed ancestors which flourished in the ages which preceded man. Myriads of individuals and all the species and varieties died out to make room for the one toed selection to enable this favorite to occupy the ground unthwarted by crossing or by recurrence to average forms. He was redeemed at a great price and has come through a great tribulation.—Contemporary Review.

Only a Lawyer.

When Justice Bookstaver was on the supreme court bench, he had as special officer or attendant a punctilious old German, who always stood guard at the door leading to the justice's private chambers when the justice was within. One day a prominent lawyer and two of his clients called and asked if the justice would receive them.

The officer threw open the door and called out loudly to the justice:

"Shudge! Two shentlemans und a lawyer vants to speak mit you."

The three gentlemen laughed.

"Vor vhat you laff, eh?"

"Don't you count me a gentleman?" asked the lawyer.

"Ach, you're a lawyer only; dat's different."—New York Mail and Express.

Big Fire at Muncy.

The finishing department and storage rooms of the Muncy Manufacturing Co., Manufacturers of furniture, the plant of which is located along the Philadelphia and Reading railway, was totally destroyed, and at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning a report from Muncy stated that the loss would probably reach $20,000 or 30,000. It was not known what the insurance is. The fire is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

THE KICKER.

A Theory of His Rise and Progress.

The word "kicker" is no more slang, but an honorable term admitted by the lexicographer to the round table of English speech. This acceptance of the word proves that there was a real need for it; that a certain class of people had no word in the English language to fitly designate them. As a class these kickers must be as modern as the word which describes them. They are in effect a new product of our latest civilization. The word which describes the kicker is picturesque. It suggests the mule whose kicking is usually done out of pure wantonness; which kicks in season and out of season, at everything or at nothing as the case may be. The term kicker scarcely needs definition. We know exactly what it means, as well as we know the chronic fault-finder it designates.

THE RISE OF THE KICKER.

Any one who cares to trace the rise of the kicker will find that he keeps pace with the prevalent American disease, dyspepsia. All kickers may not be dyspeptics, but all dyspeptics are surely kickers. They are everlasting fault-finders. Nothing goes right for them in the family or in business. There is always a dead fly in their ointment. It is a miserable condition for the dyspeptic and his friends. He really can't help himself. His nerves are strained to the limit of endurance. His ears are like megaphones magnifying every little sound to the shock of thunder. His eyes lose sense of perspective and he sees mole-hills as mountains. He is suspicious, jealous, unreasonable and obstinate; and all these things are only symptoms of the disease which is starving and weakening the entire nervous system and reaching out toward heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and other organs.

WHAT CAN BE DONE FOR HIM?

What can be done for the victim of dyspepsia?

He can be cured. He can be given a new start in life. He can be made the amiable, companionable man he was of old. He can once more eat with appetite and enjoyment, work with energy, and sleep the night through in sound, dreamless slumber.

This is not a mere empty claim unsupported by facts. The statement that the dyspeptic can be cured is made on the authority of thousands of men and women, who have been entirely cured of dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It always helps. It almost always cures.

O. S. Copenhaver, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa. (Box 222), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy, yellow water. I consulted a physician and he told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. I still kept getting so weak I could scarcely walk. I then tried another physician and he told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better, but only for a short time. I then tried another one who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief while using. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before. I can truthfully say Dr. Pierce's medicines did me more good than any I had ever taken."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores bodily strength by enabling the assimilation of food which is the source of all physical strength. It acts directly on the blood-making glands, increasing their activity and so increasing the supply of blood which is enriched and purified by the "Discovery."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics and injurious drugs.

Do not accept any substitute for the "Discovery" though claimed to be "just as good." "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured when all other medicines have failed. There is nothing else "just as good."

Bound for Teheren.

Never in the history of present making, has so original and elaborate a gift been made by a subject to his sovereign as the one recently ordered, in Washington, from the Columbia Phonograph company, by the Persian minister, for presentation to the Shah of Persia.

This magnificent gift which was shipped on the 21st instant from the factory of the American Graphophone company at Bridgeport, Conn., consists of a multiplex graphophone grand and thirty-four barrels of records and blank cylinders,

The machine was built on the model of the one exhibited at the Paris exposition last summer, and which attracted the attention and won the admiration of visitors from all parts of the world. It is the most wonderful sound reproducing mechanism ever constructed and it contains new features, in addition to those embodied in the famous graphophone grand. It uses three separate horns, acting in absolute unison with three separate and distinct records, each one of which gives the same loud, pure tone as that of the graphophone grand. The combination of all three in unison, gives an intensity of volume and a sweetness and richness of tone which seem almost beyond belief, and results are obtained that it is difficult to realize are within the possibilities of sound reproducing mechanism.

One of the interesting features of this precarious shipment is that it will complete the last stage of its journey—from Batum to Teheren—on the backs of camels, and it goes without saying that no present that has ever been received at the palace of the Shah created even a small fraction of the interest that will be awakened when this phenomenal instrument, from far away Connecticut, makes its appearance and lifts up its wonderous voices.

HE MAY BE SENT TO GUAM

The Capture of Aguinaldo was Discussed at the Cabinet Meeting.

NO DEFINITE CONCLUSIONS YET

The President and All the Members of the Cabinet are in Favor of a Most Liberal and Substantial Recognition of the Services Performed by Funston.

WILL NOT BE HARSH WITH FILIPINO

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The cabinet meeting yesterday was devoted almost entirely to the discussion of the capture of Aguinaldo, its effect upon the military situation in the Philippines, the disposition to be made of the insurgent chief and the reward to be given to General Funston. The subject was considered in all its phases, but no definite conclusions were reached either with regard to General Funston's reward or to the banishment of Aguinaldo.

The president and all the members of the cabinet are in favor of the most liberal and substantial recognition of the services performed by Gen. Funston. There was some discussion of the question of making him a brigadier general in the regular army, but it was thought that full reports should be awaited before action was taken.

There is no disposition to deal harshly with the man who has led in the insurrection against the forces of this country. Some of the cabinet officers think it is possible that he may be used with good effect by the authorities of the Philippine commission in the establishment of civil government.

Gen. MacArthur's dispatch suggesting that Aguinaldo might issue an address advising the insurgents to accept the situation was pointed to as indicating possibilities along this line. On the other hand Aguinaldo's record has not been such as to win for him great confidence in his constancy, and if his influence cannot be utilized safely he undoubtedly will be sent to some place where he can foment no further trouble. Guam was mentioned as a possible place for his detention.

The view of the majority of the cabinet was that the time is not yet ripe to decide what course should be pursued in the disposition of Aguinaldo. It is felt that some little time should elapse to permit an opportunity to deliberate carefully over what scheme would prove the wisest, whether he can be of any service to the United States government by remaining at Manila and exerting his influence in the direction of peace, whether it would be dangerous to permit him to remain so close to the field of insurrectionary activity or whether even it would be best to send him among the other insurgent prisoners on the island of Guam.

There is no disposition to deal otherwise than leniently with him but there are various questions that will have to be considered in the case, as for instance whether he personally instigated assassinations of Americans and similar offenses, which some of the members of the cabinet feel should call for some penalty. It cannot be too emphatically stated that the administration will avoid giving the captured prisoner any basis for posing as a martyr. The matter of transporting him to Guam will receive serious consideration. One Senator who called at the White House yesterday presented to the president the advisability of transporting Aguinaldo to some place like Tutuila, in the Samoan group, where, it was pointed out, he could be kept at a distance from the scene of his old operations, and where he would be in a climate of which he could make no complaint. The trend of views as expressed by the cabinet indicated that ultimate transfer to some place of confinement out side of the Philippines was the course most likely to be adopted.

The president and his cabinet think the capture of Aguinaldo will mean much in crushing the insurrection. Indeed, they are inclined to believe now that it means the utter collapse of the opposition to the authority of the United States.

This was the last cabinet meeting to be attended by Attorney General Griggs and the leave taking was marked by the most sincere regret from the president and members of the cabinet. Mr. Griggs will leave Washington today for his home in New Jersey, and will at once begin the practice of his profession.

Loretto, Instead of Altoona.

A prominent member of St. John's Roman Catholic church, Johnstown, gives out this statement: "I have it from an excellent authority that Loretto will be the seat of the new diocese which has been decided upon by the authorities of the church. I have reason to believe that Father Ferdinand Kittell will be elevated to the seat."

It is understood that Charles M Schwab has indicated he would be pleased over the elevation of Father Kittell.

Cochran Buys Virginia Farm.

Hon. J. H. Cochran, of Williamsport, has purchased the fine old colonial estate known as Rose Gill, in Middlesex county, Virginia, from Dr. Brooke Temple.

Mr. Cochran will make many improvements to the mansion without altering the style of architecture. It is contemplated to make a modern stock farm of Rose Gill for breeding and raising improved stock of different kinds.

Stringent Health Laws.

The associated health authorities of the State are much interested in two bills introduced in the House at the instigation of Edward S. Wagoner, chairman of the legislative committee of the associated authorities.

The bills amend the acts authorizing the organization of health boards in boroughs and townships. They are practically substitutes for those acts and are great improvements over the existing laws on the subjects. If they are passed they will result in boards of health being organized in every borough and township of the State.

The borough bill provides that the town council must support a board with a monetary appropriation sufficient to cover its legitimate expenses and places the council of towns disobeying the law subject to mandamus by the courts.

In townships the boards of health are to be appointed and appropriations for their support made by the respective school boards. Failing to support a board or supply it with funds will be followed by the withdrawal of the State school appropriation of the district disobeying the law.

With these two provisions in force it is thought that the health conditions of the State in general can be greatly improved and epidemics of contagious diseases prevented.

Oratorical Contest at Unionville.

A very interesting oratorical contest was held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Unionville Friday evening under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of that place. The church was filled to overflowing and everyone pronounced the contest a great success.

Miss Fannie Frohn presided and the program was as follows:

'The Old Man's Story"—Miss Mabel Wagner.

"Are Our Boys Safe?"—Miss Maud Johnson.

"The Voice from the Poor House"—Miss Sue Underwood.

"Outside the Prison Bars"—Miss Anna Morrison.

"The Martyred Mother"—Ray Weaver.

"A Boy's Plea"—Chapman Underwood.

"Two Fires"—Miss Pauline Smith.

The orations were interspersed with solos, duetts and choruses. The judges of the contest were Mrs. E. B. Hogue, Miss Ella Levy and Mr. Jas. R. Hughes, all of Bellefonte. After listening attentively and carefully considering the merits of each contestant's production they unanimously awarded the silver medal to Miss Pauline Smith. The medal was presented by Mrs. Cleas, president of the County Union.

—Double headers in the long tunnels, with heavy grades, are a terror to the engineer and fireman on the second engine. The heat from the stack of the first engine is driven downward with volumes of smoke and sulphur. Recently when two of the big engines came near stalling in a tunnel while ascending a heavy grade, the paint on the cabin of the second engine was blistered and the engineer and fireman were almost suffocated. It is a terrible experience for the men in the second cab, and they always breathe an intense sigh of relief when the end of the tunnel is reached. Another danger is the back draft driving the flames through the fire door. When this happens it is woe to the unfortunate fireman who has the door open and is standing near it.

METHODISTS MEETING.

A Few News Items from the Central Pennsylvania Conference.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., March 30.—At the second day's session of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal Conference Rev. E. J. Gray reported in behalf of Dickinson seminary, showing 300 students enrolled and the institution in flourishing condition.

The conference treasurer reported that last year $63,000 passed through his hands.

The speakers for the re-union of the Baltimore and Central Pennsylvania conferences at Hagerstown were named. They are Bishop Foss and Rev. S. S. Creighton, Richard Hinkle and Dr. B. B. Hamlin.

Dr. W. A. Spencer addressed the popular meeting in the evening in the interest of church extension. During Dr. Spencer's incumbency of 16 years the number of churches planted was 7,500, an increase of 3,000 over the 16 years of the prior incumbent. Four and a half million of dollars have been expended, an increase of $2,000,000.

Friday morning's session of conference opened with Bishop Joyce in the chair, Bishop Foss being detained by an engagement. Rev. M. L. Ganoe conducted devotional services.

Dr. Davidson, for the American university, reported assets of $2,700,000; State gifts of $15,000 each for the Ohio Hall of Government and the Illinois Hall of Languages and $40,000 endowments.

Dr. Heard, editor of the Christian Examiner, addressed the conference, as did also Dr. Mills, secretary of the Twentieth Century Thank Offering movement.

The following were elected to elders' orders: R. J. Allen, W. Dickson, W. W Rothrock, J. J. Rosch and T. W. McKenny.

Local deacons, orders: W. G. Steel, P. N. Fredin, James Doherty.

The class admitted to full membership of the conference was addressed by Bishop Foss on the subject "A Model Minister."

Rev. B. H. Mosser, of Carlisle, conducted the pentacostal meeting Friday evening.

At 2 o'clock the anniversary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was held, Mrs. P. P. Strawinski presiding. Addresses were made by Miss Mary A. Danforth and Miss Grace Stephens, superintendent of the Zenana mission, Madras, India.

Last night Rev. Dr. Frank Bristol, fo Washington, D. C., delivered a lecture on the subject "Brains." The house was crowded.

"Stick To It."

Geo. L. Heard of High Tower, Georgia, writes: "Eczema broke out on my baby covering his entire body. Under treatment of our family physician he got worse as he could not sleep for the burning and itching. We used a box of "Banner Salve" on him and by the time it was gone he was well. The Doctor seeing it was curing him said, "Stick to it for it is doing him more good than anything I have done for him." All Druggist.

HIGH SCHOOLS FOR TOWNSHIPS.

There is quite a revival of interest throughout the State in the question of township high schools, due to the fact that a bill is before the Legislature providing a way for the townships to secure these schools. So at least says a writer on the Philadelphia "Press" who edits that very interesting and entertaining section of the "Press" devoted to a resume of State topics.

This bill provides that upon the petition of a majority of the taxpayers of the district an election shall be held at which the qualified electors may, by ballot, vote for or against the innovation as their preference determines. If the majority vote in favor of it then the school board of such district shall erect a suitable edifice for a high school, obtaining the money for the building by taxation and provide means by which the scholars shall be conveyed to and from school. Similar measures have been before previous Legislatures, but they were suffered to go by the board because their provisions made it mandatory for the townships to have high schools, and it is conceded there are many instances where such a thing is impracticable.

Pursuing the subject further the writer says: "The subject is one of great interest and the proposition to establish such schools has many strong advocates and supporters. Governor Hastings, who was always very earnest in promoting all proper educational interests, discussed it at some length in his message to the Legislature in 1897. He believed the gradual depopulation of the agricultural sections, which the census reports revealed from time to time, was in part due to the fact that the youth in those sections did not find proper means of education at home. They went to the cities for schools, found new associations and then remained with them."

Among other things, Governor Hastings declared that "the time is at hand to give the youth of the townships advantages equal to those found in towns and smaller cities, and the method, it is believed, is neither expensive nor at variance with our educational system. The township high school is needed in our agricultural communities to provide equal opportunities and advantages with those now in existence in the towns. It was suggested that if the population of one township and other conditions should not require a separate high school two or more townships could unite and share the expense and advantages."

There seems to be, in the mind of the "Press" scribe, a pretty good disposition in the Legislature now to act upon Governor Hastings' suggestions, "but," he adds, "it cannot be certain what the outcome will be." We venture the prediction that the bill will never pass this Legislature. It belongs to Quay and his gang and they are not in favor of the education of our youth. This has been proven by the action of the "Ripper" Governor who cut down the public school appropriation. The school children in the rural districts will be lucky if they retain the few advantages they have so long as the Quay machine is in the saddle. In Governor Hastings, as with his predecessors, the public schools of Pennsylvania had a staunch friend and champion. Their interests, progress and development was his constant care and attention. Times and things are different now. The Quay gang at Harrisburg are unfriendly to educational development and they will not hesitate to impair our educational system and retard its advancement whenever the opportunity is given them. The iniquitous machine of their Boss is their god and State interests and institutions will be made to suffer to maintain its power and supremacy.

A Philadelphia doctor has been advising people not to go out immediately after taking off their heavy underwear. We know that everything goes in Philadelphia these days, but if anyone disregarded this doctor's advice in Bellefonte, for instance, Burgess Blanchard's minions of the law would run them to cover.

THE BUTTERED SIDE OF THE CUBAN BREAD.

"The peace which we are pledged to leave to the Cuban people must carry with it the guarantees of permanence. We became sponsors for the pacification of the island, and we remain accountable to the Cubans, no less than to our own country and people, for the reconstruction of Cuba as a free commonwealth on abiding foundations of right, justice, liberty and assured order. Our enfranchisement of the people will not be completed until free Cuba shall be a reality, not a name; a perfect entity, not a hasty experiment bearing within itself the elements of failure."

This is Mr. McKinley's declaration of the nation's Cuban policy. He affirms that it is the purpose declared in the war resolution of 1898 and "must be made good." His critics contend that it is not in keeping with that promise of absolute soveignty and independence then made to the world. Whether these critics or the supporters of the policy be right on this point, all must agree that the United States is aiming at not only its own protection but also that of the new republic—not only its own highest interests but also those of Cuba.

If the Cubans are sensible they must see that they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by accepting the good offices and protection thus offered them. It is true that in doing so they will yield something of their sovereignty and independence. But this is a sentimental consideration which is outweighed by the material advantages to be gained. They must remember that they are founding a republic under exceptional circumstances, difficulties and dangers. Without the aid of the United States they could not have achieved emancipation from Spanish misrule. Without that aid in the future their national safety and welfare, nay, their very republican existence, is more than problematic.

They have neither army nor navy. The United States guarantees them protection against foreign encroachment and domestic revolution. They have no financial resources. The United States proposes to guard them against the possible danger of that enormous Spanish-Cuban debt and other monetary disasters. In short, this country offers to fight their battles in the future as it has in the past. That is an offer which any struggling people in their national infancy and weakness should be only too glad to welcome from a powerful friendly neighbor.

There is another aspect of the matter of momentous consequence to the success of the republic and the future welfare of its people—that is the sanitary improvement, agricultural development and commercial progress of the island, so essential to its prosperity and so dependent on the stability of its government.

The country must be made healthy by modern sanitation. This is necessary not only to it as a desirable place of residence and visitation, but also to its commercial intercourse with the United States. It must have up-to-date public improvements in the way of railways, telegraphs, telephones, and so on. Its rich agricultural resources must be developed and its trade built up.

Now all this requires capital and enterprise, which the Cubans have not and Americans have. But, obviously, Americans are not going to risk their capital or waste their enterprise on a country exposed to danger from without, revolution within, or financial disasters due to folly. They will demand the security of a stable government. This will be afforded by the guaranty of the United States. It will be wholly wanting without that guaranty and with Cuba thus left to its own resources.

Hence, to leave gratitude for the past entirely out of the question, the Cubans have every reason of self-interest and national welfare to welcome the proffered guardianship of the United States, which assures their stability as a nation and prosperity as a people without material interference with their sovereignty or independence. It safeguards the permanence and insures the success of the new republic. It is the buttered side of the Cuban bread.—N. Y. Herald.

SLAVERY IN PENNSYLVANIA IN 1812.

The Blairsville, Indiana county, Pa., "Enterprise" has received from Mrs. Kate Cunningham, of that place, the original of the following reminder of "the good old times" in Western Pennsylvania:

For the sum of Two hundred and fifty dollars to me in hand paid by George Anshutz Commission merchant of Pittsburgh I do hereby sell and transfer my black boy Bob to him the said George his heirs and assigns for six years from the first day of January eighteen hundred and thirteen at the expiration of which time the said Bob is hereby declared to be a free man. In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and seal at Pittsburg Dec. 25th, 1812. A. Boggs.

Witness. Christian Latshaw.

Bob was born with Coll. Cook, of Pensvalley Centre County formerly Mifflin and Recorded in Mifflin County. He was sold by Coll. Cook, to Doct. Davis, of Bellefont by Doct. Davis' Exors to Roland Curtin and by Roland Curtin to me A Boggs. He is now about eighteen years of age. A Boggs.

[Andrew Boggs was a pioneer saltmaker in the Conemaugh and Kiskiminetas valleys, and George Anshutz was a pioneer ironmaker at Pittsburgh and Laughlinstown and also in Huntingdon county, Pa. By act of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in 1780 negro slavery was gradually abolished, but there were still living slaves in Pennsylvania as late as 1830. The "boy" referred to by Mr. Boggs was doubtless the child of parents who remained slaves after 1780, and he himself could become free only after he had reached the age of 28 years, unless manumitted.—Editor Bulletin.]—Iron Bulletin.

IT WORKS WELL.

Temperance workers who have given the army canteen question much study and who are interested in the result of the anti-canteen law now in operation at the army posts have good cause for rejoicing over the report made by those who have watched its course at Forts Hamiltonand Wadsworth, as well as other garrisons around New York. It is claimed by those who speak from knowledge gained by investigation and observation that the anti-canteen law has worked wonders in the way of moral improvement among the rank and file of the army.

At Fort Wadsworth, where three hundred men are stationed, three hundred quarts of milk have been sold daily during the past month. The milk sales at the Fort Hamilton exchange for March equaled the amount usually realized from the canteen. The report from these posts, authorized by the anti-canteen watchers, states that "pay drunks" were conspicuous by their absence. It goes without saying that many seasoned infantrymen and artillerymen, heroes of a thousand campaigns, find milk a poor substitute for the "real thing," but that three hundred quart milk record speaks for itself and demonstrates that the passing of the army canteen was a step in the right direction. The Women's Christian Temperance Union had the anti-canteen law passed and they will carefully study its operation. Observations thus far at various army posts warrant the statement that no new saloons have followed the abolition of the canteen

Of course, it would be very well if every voter could read and write. There would be a vast improvement in conditions and affairs if every legislator, National and State, understood his business. "Ignorance is bliss," but it is h—l, too, sometimes.

Secretary of War Root may go to Manila this summer in order to study the conditions there for himself. No written or verbal report can take the place of personal investigation, and it is to be hoped that the Secretary's plan will not be allowed to fall through.

CRITICS PROMPTLY ANSWERED.

The oft repeated insinuation that the President and Secretary Root were not disposed to give General Funston proper credit and suitable reward for the capture of Aguinaldo and that they would be influenced by the opposition to Funston's promotion by the regular army officers, was fully answered by the President's action in giving the Kansas hero a commission as Brigadier General in the regular army and emphasized by the following cablegram sent to General MacArthur by Adjutant General Corbin: "The President instructs me to express his highest appreciation of the gallant conduct of General Funston and of the officers and men of the army and navy engaged with him in the Palanan expedition. The Secretary of War personally joins in this expression."

Taking into consideration the number of ships that are on seas and navigable waters of the world, it is estimated that about 1,700,000 of the world's population are constantly afloat. This number constitutes but a modest proportion of the pilgrims of the earth who are in the swim.

The death rate in Havana this year is just one-fourth what it was in the last year of peaceful Spanish rule. Result: The United States will no longer be thrown into perennial uneasiness by epidemics in the island—that is, it will not if it retains control thereof.

Trout Season Opens April 15—Anglers Getting Ready.

Although the trout season will not open until Monday, April 15, the anglers are already getting their traps into shape. Flies are being looked after, lines tested, hooks carefully sized up, rods that have served several seasons shellacked and wrapped, and reels and creels placed in positions where they can be readily reached when the occasion demands. The anticipating angler who does not pin his faith solely to the artificial fly is carefully looking over the stock of worms he dug and placed in a box last fall, and by the time the season opens he will be ready to do business. The season will bring forth many new contrivances designed to more readily lure the trout, but it is doubtful if anything artificial has thus far appeared on the market equivalent to the ordinary earth worm that has been well nutured and has passed all or part of the winter months in earth which has been mixed with a small quantity of powdered dust.

Sportsmen's clubs and others interested in fishing are receiving requests for opinions regarding the best methods to be pursued during the season. There seems to be but one general rule for the amateur to follow and that is to provide himself with a good stock of patience as well as bait, hooks and such paraphernalia. He might also note a few points on the law governing the game fish season.

The open seasons are as follows:

Speckled trout—from April 15 to July 15.

Black bass, rock bass, and wall eyed pike or Susquehanna salmon—from May 30 to Jan. 1.

Pike and pickerel—from June 1 to Feb. 1st.

AS TO TRESPASSING.

A fact that some people should get into their heads and keep there when the fishing season opens, is that they cannot fish upon anybody's land, or in any stream that is the private property of any person firm or corporation, without becoming trespassers, unless granted the privilege of doing so by the owners. It has been believed that in a stream, stocked by the state, or whether stocked by it or not if the fisher waded and did not trespass upon the lands adjoining it he had a right to fish at any time.

This is not correct. Judge Albright of Lehigh court lately handed down a decision in a suit instituted in Monroe county by the Pohoqualine association relating to the rights of fishermen and owners of streams. He rules that a fisherman is guilty of trespass who enters a stream and fishes without the consent of the land owners, although he wades the stream and does not touch dry land; and the fact that the state has stocked the stream does not make it a public stream. This decision is a good thing to remember if those who have heretofore thought otherwise want to save themselves.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, April 2ad, 1901.

President McKinley is delighted with the recent news from the Philippines, including the gallant and daring capture of Aguinaldo, by Gen. Fred Funston and the continued surrender of Filipino officers and men as well as the rapid progress of the establishing of civil government in the various provinces by the Taft commission. It looks as though peace and prosperity were ahead of the Philippines, and that both would come much sooner than the most sanguine would have predicted a few weeks ago. President McKinley promptly assured Senator Burton and Representatives Curtis and Long, of Kansas, that Gen. Funston's good work should be rewarded, and as promptly made him a Brigadier General in the regular army, although that action on the part of the President did not meet the approval of some of the army fossils who say that Gen. Funston is too young to be a Brigadier General in the regular army—he is only 35. The answer to that argument is that Funston earned his commission as Brigadier General of Volunteers by his bravery and gallantry, and that now he has earned a similar commission as a regular; what a man is old enough to earn, he is old enough to have. To properly reward him was to encourage future Funstons to perform gallant deeds when the occasion for them arises.

Much clap-trap has been sent from Washington about the President and Cabinet worrying over what shall be done with Aguinaldo. Nothing could be further from the truth. There has been no worry and no occasion for any. Aguinaldo is a prisoner of war and as such is likely to receive the same kind treatment given others from time to time captured. Whether he will be allowed to recover his liberty by taking the oath of allegiance to the U. S. or will be kept in confinement in the Philippines or elsewhere, will depend largely upon future recommendations, made by our military authorities in the Philippines, and those recommendations will doubtless be influenced by the attitude of Aguinaldo himself toward American rule on the islands. There is nothing in the situation to cause any worry in Washington, or elsewhere.

Judge Boyd, of N. C., former Assistant Attorney General, who was in Washington, when the news of the collapse of the attempt to impeach the judges of the Supreme Court of his state was received. Speaking of the matter, Judge Boyd said "There could have been no other verdict. There was never any ground of impeachment in the first place, but the places of the judges were wanted, and it was thought that they could be ousted by impeachment proceedings. What seems strange to me is that the trial did not attract more attention. If there had been an impeachment of judges of any other state in the Union, there would have been columns of the story printed with pictures of the judges, of the Senators who formed the court, and of the principal lawyers in the case. There were many interesting and even dramatic features in the trial."

The entire exhibit of the post office department, which will be the largest and most complete ever shown anywhere, for the Pan-American Exposition, has been shipped to Buffalo.

C. B. Orcutt, of Elizabeth, N. J., president of the Newport News, Va., Ship Building Co., who is in Washington for the purpose of signing a contract with the Navy department for constructing the Charleston, which is to replace the cruiser of that name wrecked in the Philippines, speaking of the great prosperity of the ship building industry, said: "The total ships under construction in our yards will represent a cost of nearly $28,000,000, when completed. About one third of this is merchant work, and the other two thirds are for the government. The Korea, building for the Pacific Mail Co., which was recently successfully launched, is the largest merchant vessel ever constructed in this country. Her sister ship, the Siberia, should be ready for launching in about two months. The ships we now have under construction are the battleships Illinois and Missouri, one sheathed battleship, two armored cruisers, one protected cruiser and the monitor Arkansas. In addition to the two Pacific mail steamers, we are building 4 steamers for the Morgan line. We are now employing 6,800 men, and before many days we shall have 7,000 on the rolls."

In the early days of the Chinese difficulty the wise heads among the Chinamen used to say that the powers that were then making war on China would wind up by making war on one another. Recent events verify this prediction. Unless all signs fail the Chinese scramble will soon develop a conflict of great magnitude. Even now it looks as if a clash would not be postponed much longer.—Scranton Truth.

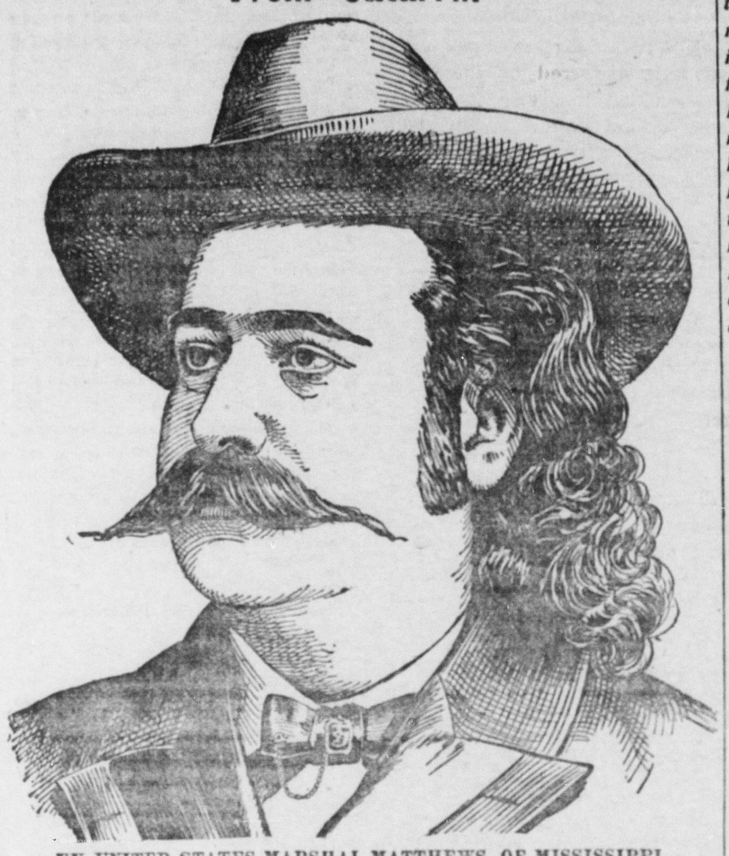
A UNITED STATES MARSHAL

Thanks Peruna For His Rapid Recovery From Catarrh.



EX-UNITED STATES MARSHAL MATTHEWS, OF MISSISSIPPI.

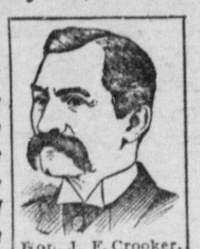
Hon. S. S. Matthews, ex-United States Marshal of Mississippi, in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Company of Columbus, Ohio, written from Hazelhurst, Miss., says:

"I am happy to say that I am cured of catarrh and need no more attention from you. It is a great satisfaction that I am able to write you that Peruna has in my case done all that you claim, and that I will need no more medicine."

The great multitude take this remedy without any other advice than the directions to be found upon the bottle and in the pamphlets. There are those who prefer, however, to correspond with Dr. Hartman during their sickness. To all such he will make prompt and careful answer without charge.

Hon. J. F. Crooker of Buffalo, N. Y., who was for years Superintendent of Schools at Buffalo, in a letter dated October 16, writes:

"I have been a sufferer from catarrh six or seven years, and after trying many remedies, was induced by a friend to take Peruna. The results have been highly satisfactory. I take pleasure in recommending Peruna to any one suffering with catarrh, as my cure is complete.



Hon. J. F. Crooker, Sup't Buffalo, N.Y. Public Schools.

Hon. B. B. Doviner, Congressman from West Virginia, in a letter from Washington, D. C. to The Peruna Medicine Co., says the following of their catarrh remedy, Peruna:

"I join with my colleagues in the House of Representatives in recommending your excellent remedy, Peruna, as a good tonic and also an effective cure for catarrh."

Mrs. Mary C. Fentress writes from Paradise, Tex., the following: "I think I can say that your good advice and medicine has cured me of chronic catarrh. I have had no pains in my head since I have taken Peruna. I have been in bad health ever since '59, and have taken a good many medicines which were only of temporary relief. Peruna is the catarrh cure. The Peruna stopped my catarrh of the head so that it did not become chronic, and I am very thankful for Dr. Hartman's advice and medicine."

Peruna is a specific for all catarrhal diseases. It acts quickly and beneficially upon the inflamed mucous membrane thus removing the cause of catarrh.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located. Catarrh is essentially the same everywhere. The remedy that will cure catarrh in one situation will cure it in all situations.

The Englishman's Frank Toast.

"Recently in Los Angeles five prominent gentlemen on foreign birth chanced to meet. One was a Russian, one a Turk, one a Frenchman, one an American and one an Englishman. These gentlemen became bosom friends, and finally a champagne supper was proposed, at which each gentleman, to be in keeping with the times, was to give a toast to his native country, the one giving the best to be at no expense for the wine. Here are the toasts given:

The Russian—"Here's to the stars and bars of Russia, that were never pulled down."

The Turk—"Here's to the moons of Turkey, whose wings were never clipped."

The Frenchman—"Here's to the cock of France, whose feathers were never picked."

The American—"Here's to the Stars and Stripes of America, never trailed in defeat."

The Englishman—"Here's to the rampin', roarin' lion of Great Britain, that tore down the stars and bars of Russia, clipped the wings of Turkey, picked the feathers off the cock of France, and ran like an Indian from the Stars and Stripes of the United States of America."—Albany Journal.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

There are Hundreds of Bellefonte People Similarly Situated.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Bellefonte residents? After you have read the following quietly answer the question.

Mr. William Valence East Lamb street, Night watchman, says: "For 2 years or more off and on, I had trouble with my back and pains in the upper part of my spine accompanied by a disagreeable feeling in my head and acute lameness right over my kidneys. At first I thought it was my liver but later found it arose from the kidneys not acting properly. I read of the many cures that had been made in Bellefonte by Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at F. Potts Green's drug store. They stopped the annoyance from the kidneys and removed the lameness and aching in my back. They did me any amount of good and I do not hesitate to recommend them."

Kapp, of Scotia, performed the ceremony, and about thirty guests witnessed it. Mr. and Mrs. Neidigh then left for a honeymoon among relatives at Mt. Union and Huntingdon. When they return they will go to housekeeping on Mr. Neidigh's farm at Pine Grove Mills.

Home From the Hospital.

Herman Transue, the man who had his back broken by a tree falling on him while working near Knecht's mill, in Nittany Valley last winter, who was taken to a hospital in Philadelphia recently for treatment, was brought home last week. He was not operated on, but the hospital physicians think within a year the injured man may be able to go about on crutches.

MANILLA'S BIG SENSATION.

General Lee Says We Must Stand By Our Declarations.

Interest in the capture and fate of Aguinaldo is well nigh overshadowed in Manila by sensational developments, present and prospective, of frauds in the commissary department. How long this delay will continue has not been ascertained but enough is already known to justify the belief that they are far-reaching.

Captain Frederick J. Barrows, of the Thirtieth volunteer infantry, quartermaster of the department of Southern Luzon, together with such commissary sergeants, several civilian clerks, a prominent government contractor, the assistant manager of the Hotel Oriente, the proprietors of three of the largest bakeries in Manila, a number of store keepers and other persons have been arrested.

The investigation has scarcely begun, but thousands of sacks of flour, a quantity of bacon and wagon loads of other goods, all bearing government marks, have been found in the possession of unauthorized persons.

It is alleged that the contractor in question, who has been doing a business approximating $100,000 per month, has spent huge sums in entertaining officers. A prominent commissary officer is accused of leading a scandalously immoral life.

New scandals are developed daily. Illicit transactions have been traced back to June, 1900, and it is possible that there are others of earlier date.

The exorbitant taxes on provisions, makes the surreptitious sale of commissary supplies immensely profitable.

It is understood that other United States officers may be arrested.

Lieutenant Philip K. Sweet, of the Forty-sixth volunteer infantry, is prosecuting the investigation, under the direction of Colonel Wilder, chief of police.

WASHINGTON, April 1st.—It was said at both the white house and war department Sunday night that absolutely nothing had been received by the government regarding the alleged unearthing of crooked work on the part of the army quartermaster and others in Luzon and the arrest of a number of persons in and out of the army, for stealing property of the government or receiving stolen government property. General Corbin said furthermore that the government had no intimation of any sort that such developments might be expected. He said he was inclined for this reason to think the frauds against the government could hardly be so serious as reported, though admitting this opinion was based wholly on the lack of advices from the government. Captain Barrowe, he said, was not the regular quartermaster for southern Luzon and must have been acting quartermaster at the time of the arrests.

CUBA AND ITS FUTURE.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, for the first time since his retirement from the army, has given expression to his views with regard to the future of Cuba. The occasion was the banquet given in his honor at the Omaha club. After referring to his services as consul general and in the army in that island, he said:

"More than ever must there be an exercise of patriotism in its highest sense by the citizens of the United States.

The Philippines are ours by treaty and their future so far as the United States is concerned, should be duly determined by congress before and not after armed resistance to the authority of the United States has ceased. The splendid exploit of Funston throws a brilliant light upon the coming path of peace.

"Porto Rico is ours by conquest, while Cuba has its status fixed by the Teller resolution in the act of declaring war against Spain. Under that resolution the United States disclaims any intention of exercising sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over the island of Cuba, except for the pacification thereof, and when that is accomplished the government of the island should be turned over to its own people. That solemn declaration is binding on our government, and, in my opinion, will be and should be rigidly adhered to.

"The expenditure of treasure and blood the dead American soldiers and sailors, the geographical location of the island, the large interests held by the Americans, Spanish, English, German, French and indeed the Cubans themselves, demand that the island should not only be pacified but be permanently pacified."

Sunday School Convention.

The annual convention of the Centre county Sunday school association will be held at Milesburg, in the M. E. church Tuesday, April 23, 1901. Rev. Charles Roads D. D., general state secretary, will address a mass meeting in the church on Monday evening and have a place on the program on each of the three sessions of the convention on Tuesday. His addresses promise to be intensely full of interest and very practical. Subjects will be announced with full program later. Mrs. H. G. Kennedy, a veteran Sunday school worker, president of the State Primary council, who has written lesson helps for about 30 years and edits a splendid quarterly for junior work. These speakers with other talent to be added will give a convention that will be well worth attending. Note the date. Plan to attend. Each school is asked to send their pastor, superintendent, superintendent of primary department and two delegates. Everybody invited to attend. Contributions from individuals or schools (one cent for each member enrolled or,) are earnestly solicited by the county association. In addition to the local expense there is our pledge of $30 to the state association. Schools can help themselves by being fully represented and the association greatly by sending offerings. Gifts from individuals will be appreciated.

First Change a Pleasant One.

James D. Reid, the veteran telegrapher who had the distinction of giving Andrew Carnegie his first job as a messenger boy is still living. In "Success" for April Mr. Reid recalls the incident which occurred 50 years ago, in the Atlantic & Ohio Telegraph office in Pittsburg, as follows:

"He was so determined that I became interested in him at once. He seemed to have determination written on his face. His eagerness to work and learn were very noticeable. Before he had been with me a month he asked to be taught telegraphy. When I consented he spent all his spare time in practice, transmitting and receiving by sound, and not by tape. He was the third operator in the United States to read the Morse signals by sound."

This, in Mr. Carnegie's mind, was his best move. After long and successful years Mr. Carnegie wrote of this change.

"My entrance into the telegraph office was a transition from darkness to light, from firing a small engine in a dirty cellar to a clean office where there were books and papers. That was paradise to me, and I bless the stars that sent me to be a messenger in a telegraph office."

—Clearfield Raftsman's Journal: On Thursday of last week Joseph Shaw, who was 84 years of age yesterday, conveyed to John McCorkle, of the third ward, six lots on the west side of the river. There is nothing striking about this more than the age of the grantor and grantee. Mr. McCorkle is now 96 years of age, and this added to the age of Mr. Shaw makes a total of 180 years and the average is 90.

WHERE SHALL REST BE FOUND?

Tell me, ye winged winds, that my pathway roar,
Do ye not know some spot where mortals weep no more;
Some lone and pleasant dell, some valley in the West,
Where, free from toil and pain, the weary soul may rest?
The loud winds dwindled to a whisper low,
And sighed for pity as they answered, No!

Tell me, thou mighty deep, whose billows round me play,
Know'st thou some favored spot, some island far away,
Where weary man may find the bliss for which he sighs,
Where sorrow never lives and friendship never dies?
The loud wave rolling in perpetual flow,
Stopped for a while and sighed to answer No!

And thou, serenest moon, that with such holy face
Dost look upon the earth asleep in night's embrace,
Tell me, in all thy round hast thou not seen some spot
Where miserable man might find a happier lot!
Behind a cloud the moon withdrew in woe
And a voice sweet, but sad, responded, No!

Tell me, my secret soul, oh, tell me, Hope and Faith,
Is there no resting place from sorrow, sin and death?
Is there no happy spot where mortals may be blest,
Where grief may find a balm and weariness a rest?
Faith, Hope and Love, best boons to mortals given,
Waved their bright wings and whispered Yes! in heaven.

MOVING PICTURES.

HOW THE SKETCHES ARE REPRODUCED UPON THE FILMS.

The Amount of Movement That May Be Crowded Into Fifty Seconds. The Greatest Successes Are Often Brought About by Accident.

"A queer thing about moving pictures," said an expert operator in that line to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "is the illusion they generally produce as to the time they occupy while on the screen. What is known as the 'standard exhibition film' is 50 feet long. It is used almost entirely for comic scenes, trick pictures and other effects that are got up in the studios of the experts who make them a specialty. Every theater goer has seen them, and I will venture the assertion that the average man will declare they take at least three or four minutes in passing before the eye. As a matter of fact the picture is on the screen less than one minute. You can easily figure it out for yourself. The ordinary 50 foot film of the kind to which I refer is put through the reproducing machine at the rate of 16 pictures to the second. Each picture is three-fourths of an inch broad, which makes the 16 measure exactly one foot, edge to edge; in other words, the film travels a foot a second—50 feet, 50 seconds. What gives it the effect of taking up so much more time is the immense lot of action that is usually crowded into the brief period it is in view. Until the moving picture was invented I don't think anybody had the least idea how much could be done in 50 seconds. It seemed hardly time enough to turn around in, yet when the experts began to study its possibilities they found it was ample for hundreds of little pictorial comedies that have since delighted audiences all over the world.

"It is entirely a matter of rehearsal. A subject is selected, generally calling for from three to four people, and every detail of the 'business' or action is carefully worked out in advance. Suppose, for illustration, that a comic burglary is the topic. The business, in skeleton, might run something like this: Old gentleman dozing in parlor; enter burglar; old gentleman awakes; burglar hides; enter policeman, searches the room, collars old gent; they fight and roll on the floor while burglar suddenly emerges and leaps out of the window. That doesn't sound particularly side splitting, but in the hands of intelligent comedians it can be made really very funy. The all essential thing is to crowd it into 50 seconds, and to that end each bit of action is carefully timed and made to fit into each other bit like so many well geared cogwheels. The old gentleman's startled yawn, the burglar's glance around the room and every step, movement and gesture from beginning to end is calculated with the utmost nicety, and at last after dozens of rehearsals the act is attempted before the recording machine. If everybody is lucky, it goes through on schedule time, but the slightest hitch is fatal, and if one occurs the film is spoiled, and they must try all over again. No wonder it seems impossible to future spectators that so much could transpire in 50 seconds.

"But some of the most telling effects in composition pictures," continued the operator, "have been the result of accident and were entirely unpremeditated. That was the case with a film that I had a hand in preparing and that afterward made a tremendous hit and proved to be one of the best sellers ever put on the market. In getting up the picture our principal purpose was to introduce a large and very intelligent bulldog I owned at the time, and we sketched out a simple little scene in which a tramp steals a pie from a kitchen window, is pursued by the dog and is last seen trying to scale the back fence with the animal hanging to his coattails.

"The training of the dog was the main trouble, but I finally taught him to lay hold of anything red, and we sowed a big piece of flannel as a mark to the back of our tramp's coat. Red photographs black, so it couldn't be seen in the pictures, and after a good many rehearsals the dog learned to dash out at exactly the right moment and nail the marauder, whose cue was then to rush for the fence and consume the remaining time in making an apparently desperate effort to scramble over the top. At last we got everything all ready, gave the word and started the record machine to take the picture.

"Immediately the little comedy began. The tramp appeared, looked around stealthily, saw the pie, hooked it and was having a feast when out sprang the bulldog and seized him by the coattails. He thereupon sprinted to the fence and was about to carry out the rest of the programme when, to our consternation, the boards gave way, and he came down bang on top of the dog. The film had about ten seconds to run, and it was occupied in recording one of the liveliest scraps that ever happened. There was no hippodrome about it. Both parties were out for blood. When the fence fell, the bulldog had promptly transferred himself from the tramp's coattail to the tramp's calf, while that unfortunate person snatched up a broomstick and tried to pry him loose. They rolled over and put about 50 times as much action and animation in the last ten seconds as had been crowded into the preceding 40. We finally pulled them apart, and it was not until the negative was developed that we realized what a prize we had accidentally secured. That earnest and impromptu wind up has convulsed audiences all over Christendom and made fully as much of a hit in Europe as it did at home."

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

Is it to worship earthly, groveling gold
And, dollar blinded, to look only down,
To rake the muck heap and forget the crown
Until youth's bounding blood creeps strangely cold;
To dwell with envy, arrogance and dread,
To barter all benevolence for dross,
To lose companionship nor feel its loss
Because the flower of sympathy is dead,
Is that success?

To labor for the rainbow bubble, fame;
Afloat so fairly in the morning air,
A perfect jewel for a prince to wear,
Is it a recompense for all its claim?
Through careful night and crowded, strenuous day,
Through iron rebuff or flattery, like snow
That leaves one thirsty, it is grasped, and, lo,
It vanishes in nothingness away!
Is that success?

With comrade duty in the dark or day
To follow truth wherever it may lead,
To hate all meanness, cowardice or greed,
To look for beauty under common clay,
Our brothers' burden sharing when they weep,
But, if we fall, to bear defeat alone;
To live in hearts that loved us when we're gone
Beyond the twilight (till the morning break) to sleep,
That is success!

THE HOTEL CHECK PROBLEM

A Question of Whether to Offend Guests or Risk Losing Money.

The hotel clerk was standing behind the desk, with a disconsolate look on his face.

"What's the matter?" asked a friend.

"Matter?" said the clerk. "Why, it's the same old story. I've been stuck for another check. This check business causes us hotel clerks more trouble than anything else in the world. There is a general rule in hotels that no checks shall be cashed, but very often travelers run short of money. It is good business policy to cash these checks when you can be sure that they're all right. No hotel can afford to be continually offending guests. At the same time, if a clerk cashes a bad check he has to stand the loss.

"The average hotel clerk has learned by bitter experience to be a pretty good judge of human nature, but every now and then he slips up. Only a week ago a big, splendid looking fellow came to me and got me to cash a check for $20. I sized him up and decided that he was all right and that he was a good man to keep among the steady patrons of the hotel. A few days later back came the check, with 'No funds' marked across it. The result was that I was out $20."

While the clerk was talking a swagger looking woman came up to the desk and, smiling sweetly at the clerk, said:

"Will you please cash this little check?"

The clerk was all graciousness. He took the check and examined it carefully without saying anything.

"Oh, it's all right," said the woman, "Of course, if you don't want to cash it you needn't. Mr. So-and-so knows me quite well, and you can telephone him about it if you want to, but it would save me a great deal of trouble if you could cash it for me now."

"Certainly, madam," said the clerk, and then he went over and held a consultation with the cashier.

They decided that the woman was a good investment and gave her the money. She went away smiling, and then the clerk said:

"Now, there is just about an even money chance. If I hadn't cashed that check, she would have been highly insulted and would have talked about this hotel as long as she could remember. If she is all right, she will be a good customer, but if she isn't I am out another $25."—New York Sun.

Life Saving Politeness.

Patriotism and politeness are great virtues, and a Japanese physician, Dr. Aoyama, owes his life to the fact that he possessed them both in high degree.

He had caught the plague and was dying for the need of the food which, in his delirium, he refused to take. His nurse was in despair, but finally conceived the idea of playing upon his patriotism by filling a glass with liquid nourishment and then offering to drink to the health of the mikado.

This was repeated until, ardent patriot as he was, the doctor felt that he had honored his sovereign enough.

Then his politeness was appealed to, the nurse proposing a toast and reproaching the sick man for not joining in it. In this way the patient's strength was maintained until the delirium subsided and he became convalescent.—Youth's Companion.

The Ostrich's Legs.

Although the ostrich has powerful legs and can kick like a mule, his limbs are very brittle and are easily broken. He has two toes on each foot, one being armed with a horny nail which he uses as his principal weapon of warfare. When an unarmed man is attacked by one of these birds, the chances are very much against the man unless he can climb a tree or jump over a five foot wall.

An Alternative Conclusion.

A Jersey farmer visiting New York stood looking at a sign in a bookstore window, "Dickens' Works All This Week For Two Dollars." "Waal," he remarked, "my 'pinion is that that Dickens feller is either a mighty poor workman or else he's confounded hard up for a job."—Boston Courier.

Acted Out the Character.

"It was understood that the cashier had been a lamb in Wall street."

"Therefore," said I, with a happy smile, "he skipped." — Indianapolis Press.

STARTLED THE CAMP

A PRANK THAT ENLIVENED A SNOW BOUND MINING TOWN.

The Resurrection of a Supposed Dead Lawyer Was a Mutual Surprise to the Community and to the Victim of the Tricksters.

"Life in a mining camp when it is snow bound," said a prominent mining man of Chicago the other day, "is a dreary time, and men will do anything for the sake of a little amusement. The story I am going to tell you actually did occur, and at that time we all welcomed the joke as a godsend and made a hero of its perpetrator.

"The winter of 1893 rested an appallingly heavy hand on the Cœur d'Alene. Buried many feet deep under a mass of fleecy snow, the country lay prostrate. So intense was the cold and so heavy the weight of the snow that it was possible to work none but the richest claims. Ingress to and egress from that bountifully rich territory was a feat that none but the hardiest man dared essay, for it was an even chance that death from exposure might be the lot of the one who attempted it.

"Wallace at this time was a thriving, busy, prosperous town where the artificial excitement of a mining boom everywhere betrayed itself. The shutting down of many of the mines had left a large number of men living in Wallace with nothing to do. Time hung heavily on their hands, and nothing was of too small importance to attract interest provided it held out the hope of killing a few hours of the dreary time of waiting.

"Just at this period the most prominent young lawyer of the town fell ill. There wasn't anything particular the matter with him except a heavy cold and impending fever; but, being somewhat of a hypochondriac, he at once believed himself to be in a dangerous condition. He promptly took himself to his bed in the rear of his office, denied himself to all but two or three of his intimate friends, installed a nurse to look after his wants and promptly gave himself over to that luxury of believing himself to be really ill which is so dear to the hypochondriac's heart.

"The three men who were his friends and who were admitted to his apartment took advantage of the conditions surrounding him to perpetrate a practical joke that has since become famous in the northwest. They gave out the news that the lawyer, one Jack Greene, had died, and as his mourning friends they received the camp, which called in a body to express its regret.

"In the meantime Greene, in the next room, heard nothing, the visitors being naturally quiet in the presence of death. One of his friends went to the local undertaker and, informing him that Jack was dead, purchased a coffin. Alleging the hard winter and consequent hard times, he beat the undertaker down one-half in his price. The undertaker, however, got even by supplying a plain pine box painted a deep black. This was placed in Jack's office, and in the dead of night lumber carefully weighted to the weight of Greene's body was packed inside it by the three conspirators. The lid was then screwed down, and the following day John Greene, followed by the entire population of the town of Wallace, Ida., was laid away in the cold, cold ground.

"About ten days later Jack, having entirely recovered his pristine health, appeared upon the street. To say that his advent created a sensation is to put it mildly. Three or four superstitious miners, thinking it was his 'ha'nt,' straightway took to their cabins on the hillside and to prayer and fasting. The only woman in the camp had a fit of hysterics and fainted dead away. Greene, however, stopped the general panic that his appearance was precipitating by stepping into the Crystal Palace saloon and there absorbing his four fingers of 'red eye' in a perfectly natural and earthlike manner.

"It was hard to tell whether the town of Wallace or Jack Greene was the more astonished by the explanations that there ensued. At length, when those present had become convinced beyond cavil or doubt that it was Greene in the flesh and not Greene in the spirit—although by this time it must be confessed that spirit in great plenty was in Greene—they sent for the three conspirators.

"'What did you do it for?' was the question addressed in blunt and simple terms to the ringleader.

"'Well, I'll tell you. You see we wanted to run Jack for a town office and we thought in this way we could get a line on how he stood with the community. But'—and here he slapped a wad of newspaper clippings down on the bar in front of the astonished and aggrieved Greene, 'Jack, you won't do. Just read those obituaries and see what the people think of you. Why, after such a send off as that we wouldn't dare to run you for the office of picking fleas off a yellow dog that was locked up on the town farm.'"

FLATFISHES' EYES.

A Migration Which Takes Place After the Creatures' Birth.

Flatfishes keep their white and blind side on the muddy or sandy bottom and pretend that the upper and speckled side is a part of that bottom. This they do to avoid observation, for in spite of their awkward shape they are swallowed at sight by pertinacious enemies, to the manifest discomfort of both. A greedy cormorant curling up and attempting to swallow a plaice, which tries to be as disobliging as possible, affords an object lesson not soon forgotten on the way not to behave at mealtimes. But the bird usually succeeds in its object, and the flatfish, in spite of persistent efforts to retain its natural flatness, at last disappears down the round, elastic throat of the cormorant. With a view to avoid unpleasantnesses of this kind, soles are wont to hide themselves in the sand, keeping only their eyes above the surface to act as sentinels.

In reality the dark surface of a sole, plaice or turbot is its side and not its back. It is true that both eyes are visible, which is not the case when a mackerel or a conger is laid on its side, but this is simply owing to the fact that one eye of a flatfish has since the creature's birth passed across what we may call the bridge of its nose to keep company with the other eye.

The wandering eye begins its migration at a very early age—so early, indeed, that it is a little difficult to detect it on its journey. A plaice a fifth of an inch in length and 5 days old carries one eye on each side of its nose. When three-fifths of an inch long and about 2 months old, the left eye has crossed over to the right side. Lemon soles when one inch long or 2 months old have the left eye on the edge of the head, but when double that size and 6 months old both eyes are found on the right side. A sole assumes its lopsided aspect by the time it has been hatched 2 months. When a turbot is half an inch in length, the right eye just begins to peep over the center arch of the bridge, at three-quarters of an inch it is half way across, and at an inch the passage is complete and the two eyes look out from the left side of the head. —Longman's Magazine.

AN ABANDONED FARM.

It Surely Was Hard and Stony Land, and No Exaggeration.

She was on the witness stand in her own behalf, being also defendant in the action. She was a sturdy widow, hard working, shrewd in a deal and garrulous. A landlord was suing for back rent on a little farm she had abandoned.

"You say that the land was hard and sour and sterile?" suggested the attorney for the plaintiff.

"That's what I said, only I wasn't so persnifflity about it, and I'll say more"—

"Just a moment, please. We want evidence, not opinions. Did you raise anything on this land of ours?"

"Land of ours!" with a sniff. "You never owned a thimbleful of it. Yes, I did raise things on it. It took two hills to raise a bean and a whole row of corn to raise a nubbin. I raised a cabin, I raised a pigpen, and I tried to raise a goat, but it starved to death, poor thing! That ground wouldn't raise dog fennel or even Canada thistles."

"Don't exaggerate, please. You say the soil was sour?"

"I couldn't exaggerate about that ground if I was a lawyer. In the morning when the dew was steaming off in the sunshine you'd think you was living next door to a pickle factory. I kept my sugar in an airtight jar."

"Pshaw! That's ridiculous. I suppose the ground was so hard you could not blast it?"

"Nuthing of the kind. I'm here to tell the truth. But I'll tell you how hard that ground was. I had to crop my set onions out with a hatchet, and a big gander I bought broke his neck trying to pull a tuft of spear grass." The landlord did not recover.—Detroit Free Press.

Bedrooms and Breathing.

While no scientist, I think, will recommend less than seven cubic feet of air each minute for an adult, Dr. Reed gives ten as the smallest amount that will meet the wants of the body. All of this, of course, is not absolutely used, only needed that purity may be secured. The average room—12 by 10 and 8 feet high—even if the room is empty, will consume only 960 cubic feet, or enough to supply air for one person for about two hours. Now, when two or even four persons occupy such a room, the doors and windows closed to keep out the supposed "poisonous night air," it is not strange that the stench of vitiated air is overpowering to one who enters the room after breathing the pure air of heaven, such as the good Father intended for use.—Weekly Bouquet.

Juvenile Discouragement.

Elsie—Mamma, there's a funny old man in this Pickwick book that's always telling his son to beware of the widows. Why is that?

Mamma—Well, a widow is supposed to be skillful in catching a husband.

Elsie—Gracious! I wonder if I'll have to be a widow before I can get married. —Philadelphia Press.

A Child's Vision of Heaven.

"I have seen heaven," exclaimed Mary Major, the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Major, of Williamsport, after lying unconscious for two days. "It is a beautiful country and Jesus is calling me now to come. I am going soon.

This is not the place for me to stay in any longer. Mamma, I want you and papa, grandma and grandpa and sister Mabel to be good, so that you can all come to that beautiful place where Jesus is and where I am going."

Three hours later Mary was a corpse. She had been taken suddenly ill Monday night and soon afterwards became unconscious, a condition she remained in until Wednesday night. Upon gaining consciousness, her countenance was radiant with joy, and as she told of having seen Heaven there was a beautiful smile on her face.

A Bellefonte Man's Worry.

The brightest genius that has recently come under the notice of White House attaches is a newspaper correspondent at Bellefonte, Pa. An article written by this scintillating user of the King's English has recently appeared in the clippings that are made at the Executive Mansion every day. This young man discovered that the President has not yet signed the Connell bill creating the Middle Judiciary district of Pennsylvania. He based his whole story of what would happen upon what he stated as a fact, that the President had not attached his signature to the measure before indicated. Evidently the young man had never heard of the President going to the Capitol on the last day of the life of Congress to sign bills so that they would not die by reason of Congress having adjourned sine die before he had approved them.—Washington correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Correspondence Courses for Farmers

The Pennsylvania State College is offering to farmers at their homes, instruction by means of printed lessons issued by the College, by the use of the best available books on the various subjects, and by personal correspondence whenever the student finds it difficult to understand the subject matter of the books or lessons. The work is similar to that of the correspondence schools which have proven so successful in other departments of education, and is meeting with increased favor throughout this and other states. More than six hundred students are now enrolled.

—The alarm clock, which has proven fatal to many a rosy dream of wealth and greatness, the other day added to its gruesome record by actually killing a woman of Elmira, N. Y., visiting at Pardoe, Mercer county, Pa., whose heart was weak and could not withstand the shock of the sudden awakening.

Nerve Slavery.

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.
Utter despondency.

McClure Leaves the "Times."

Philadelphia, March 30.—A. K. McClure yesterday announced the severance of his connection with the Philadelphia "Times" in the following notice:

"With this issue of the "Times" my connection with the editorial staff of the paper ceases.

"It is not my wish or purpose to retire from journalistic labors but under existing conditions the responsible editorial direction of the "Times" should be in other hands. A. K. McCLURE."

Colonel McClure has been in editorial charge of the "Times" since its establishment in 1875. He began his journalistic work fifty-five years ago as the editor of a weekly paper in Chambersburg.

LANGUID

Many a schoolgirl is said to be lazy and shiftless when she doesn't deserve the least bit of it. She can't study, easily falls asleep, is nervous and tired all the time. And what can you expect? Her brain is being fed with impure blood and her whole system is suffering from poisoning. Such girls are wonderfully helped and greatly changed, by taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Hundreds of thousands of schoolgirls have taken it during the past 50 years. Many of these girls now have homes of their own. They remember what cured them, and now they give the same medicine to their own children. You can afford to trust a Sarsaparilla that has been tested for half a century.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your bowels are constipated take Ayer's Pills. You can't have good health unless you have daily action of the bowels. 25 cts. a box.

Improvements at Spring Mills.

The Spring Mills hotel under the new and able management of Edwin Ruhl has been remodeled, refurnished and painted throughout. The bed-rooms especially, are beautifully fitted up, handsomely papered, and in fact are boudoirs of a most inviting character. Mr. Ruhl, although quite a young man is an experienced artist in the business, having been proprietor of the famous Old Fort hotel. When the health of his father failed—D. H. Ruhl the well known landlord, and finally drifted to such a character as to incapacitate him for the business, his son, the present proprietor, immediately assumed control of the hotel, and after acting as manager for several months, purchased the entire business. Mr. Ruhl since his control and management of the hotel, has conducted the business very satisfactorily, and exercised the greatest precaution at the bar. Mr. Ruhl contemplates several other improvements during the summer, one of these will be an additional story to the hotel. This is absolutely necessary, as the building now is entirely inadequate for his large and increasing business. The hotel has become very popular, and is general head quarters for commercial agents, who congregate there at all times.

Smith Brothers, the extensive furniture dealers and undertakers of Spring Mills, are making preparations to erect a large, handsome store building in which to conduct their business. The building will be located along the road leading directly to the railroad station, a very desirable location for their business, no better could be secured in the village. The building will be two and one half stories high, one hundred by forty feet, and will be fitted up with all the modern improvements and conveniences. The entire first floor will be used for the sales room and office. The upper room for storage, repair and painting departments. The west end of the building will have an entrance to be used exclusively for receiving and delivery of furniture. The main entrance to the salesroom and general office will be about the centre of the building. This establishment when completed will be a great improvement to the entire neighborhood and a credit to the village.

Changes in the Hunting Season.

In the house of Wednesday Mr. Johnson, of Union, introduced a bill making the open season for killing wild turkeys, pheasants, grouse, quail, partridges, woodcock, prairie chicken, English, Mongolian or Chinese pheasants from November 1 to December 15; making it unlawful to kill Mongolian, English or Chinese pheasants for a period of 5 years after the bill becomes a law; making it lawful to kill woodcock during the month of July.

Stronger Mail Cars.

In compliance with recent orders issued by the government, larger and stronger mail cars are being put into service on all the railroads throughout the country. This action has been taken with a view to affording better protection to the mail clerks, in addition to protecting the mails in case of a wreck.

—The Mill Hall brick works resumed operations this week after a shut down of about two months, during which time considerable repairing and improving was done. There are about twenty men now at work and the force will be increased next week when the mining of clay will be commenced.

Death of John Gormley.

John Gormley, formerly of this vicinity, but late of Newberry, Lycoming county, died at the home of his daughter in that place, Wednesday of Brights disease. He was a native of Ireland and was 75 years of age. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. William Dougherty, of Newberry.

The remains arrived in Bellefonte Friday morning. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

The pall-bearers were the following named gentlemen: John Anderson, John Curry, Thomas Shaughensy, Sr., and Jas. Kelly.

Big Saw Mill Shut Down.

The Dodge mills at Newberry shut down permanently on Monday and it is said will never be operated again. For some years the timber of the Dodge mills has been shipped to Williamsport by railroad instead of being rafted in. This has been attended with a heavy expense, and the profit of the work was of course considerably diminished. This mill was one of Williamsport's largest industrial plants.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo. Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co Testimonia's free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per Bottle.

Broke the Records.

The east bound Buffalo flyer, broke all records Tuesday in its run to Harrisburg. The distance from Williamsport was covered in one hour and fifty minutes, which includes taking water and a stop at Sunbury and slow downs at various crossings. Some stretches of the road were covered at a speed of 70 miles an hour, Bob Carnihan was the engineer.

He Kept His Leg.

Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 1 1-2 boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg was sound and well as ever." For eruptions, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them. F. Potts Green, druggist, will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only 50 cents.

Victim of Rope Jumping.

Mary Weaver, of Ashland, aged 8 years, died Friday from the effects of rope jumping. After jumping the rope 135 times, the girl went home and became unconscious. A physician was summoned and restoratives applied, but she died without regaining consciousness.

Bad Heart—Could Not Lie Down for Eighteen Months.

"I was unable to lie down in my bed for 18 months, owing to smothering spells caused by Heart Disease. One bottle of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart removed the trouble, and today I am as well as ever I was."—L. W. Law, Toronto Junction,—62.

The man who can hardly crawl, and has just strength to get through a day's work, has no strength left for family life. He wants to be quiet; to be alone, out of sight and sound of everybody.

What a difference between such a man and the healthy, hearty man, who romps with his children and rides his laughing baby to "Banbury Cross."

What makes the difference? Usually disease of the stomach, involving the entire digestive and nutritive system.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured the hindrance to the proper nourishment of the body is removed and strength comes back again.

"I am happy to say I am getting to feel fine," writes Mr. A. J. Vanderwater, of 873 West Division Street, Chicago, Ill. "In all I have taken six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four or five vials of the little 'Pellets.' They have done me worlds of good. These medicines have brought the great change in me from a slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired and sick all the time, and could do no work. Now I can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling is all going away. I am very thankful that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little liver 'Pellets' have almost made a new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty years. No other doctor for me, only Dr. Pierce."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Familiar Falsehood.

When a customer seeks to purchase some well-known, widely advertised, standard article, and the dealer tries to sell him something else claiming the offered substitute to be "just as good," that dealer is guilty of flagrant falsehood.

If the substitute were just as good it would sell on its own merits and would be called for by customers instead of having to be unloaded upon them by means of falsehood and deceit.

The very fact of the comparison "just as good," proves the claim to be untrue. We measure up, not down. We measure the less by the greater, not the greater by the less. When, therefore, some unknown or little known article is ranged up for measurement by a well known standard article, the very fact of such measurement and comparison, stamps the substitute as a lesser thing than the standard article with which it is compared.

But this is only half the truth. By this we prove the claim "just as good" to be a falsehood, but the extent of that falsehood it is impossible to estimate. "Just as good" means, in general, adulteration in place of purity, an uncertain quality instead of a certain quality, cheap material instead of good material. And beyond all this the adulterants may be not simply make weights and cheats, but in some cases may be dangerous poisons.

When the dealer says "just as good," ask yourself "just as good" for whom? You will find in the answer to that question the motive of substitution, which is the extra profit paid the dealer by the sale of the substitutes and imitations of standard wares. Practically the dealer says, when practicing the gentle art of substitution "this is 'just as good' for you, because it is a great deal more profitable for me, and anything is good enough for you which increases my profits."

A Perfect Cathartic.

Is one which does not wrench the system or leave it weak and exhausted. A perfect cathartic is found in Hood's Pills. They are praised everywhere, and after once being tried they soon permanently take the place of the old fashioned drastic Pills, such as "our grandfathers used."

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla and they greatly aid that medicine in its cleansing and purifying work.

FUNSTON'S FEAT!

THOUGHT THAT A FRIEND WROTE

Only Four Americans in the Party Which Surprised Him—The Others Were Macabebes Who Spoke Tagalo.

MacARTHUR THINKS WORST OVER

WASHINGTON, March 29.—A cablegram received at the war department late yesterday afternoon from Gen. MacArthur tells in a succinct way the history of Aguinaldo's capture, gives all credit for the brilliant exploit to Gen. Funston, whose reward it suggests should be that of a brigadier general in the regular army, and finally closes with an expression of confidence in the speedy cessation of hostilities throughout the Philippine Archipelago as a result of the capture. Except that it makes no reference to the disposition to be made of Aguinaldo the dispatch covers the whole field of gossip and speculation excited in Washington by the news that Funston's adventurous expedition had been crowned with complete success. The cablegram is as follows.

MANILA, March 28.—Adjutant General, Washington:

Important messages fell into hands of Gen. Funston February 28, from which Aguinaldo was located at Palanan, Isabella province. Expedition organized consisting of Aguinaldo's captured messenger, four ex-insurgent officers and 78 Macabebes who spoke Tagalo, armed Mausers, Remingtons, dressed to represent insurgents. Funston commanded, accompanied by Capt. Russell T. Hazzard, Eleventh cavalry, Capt. Harry W. Newton, Thirty-fourth infantry, Lieut. Oliver P. M. Hazzard, Eleventh U. S. volunteer cavalry, Lieut. Burton J. Mitchell, Fortieth U. S. volunteer infantry. Officers dressed as American privates and represented prisoners. Expedition sailed Manilla March 6. Vicksburg landed March 14 east coast Luzon, twenty miles south Casiguran. Reached Palanan on the afternoon March 23. Natives completely misled. Supposed detachment insurgent reinforcements for which supplies furnished. Aguinaldo also sent supplies and had his escort forty men paraded to extend proper honor. Short distance Aguinaldo's quarters disguise discarded, combat followed, resulting two insurgents killed, eighteen rifles, 1,000 rounds ammunition captured, together with Aguinaldo and two principal staff officers. No casualties our side. Splendid co-operation navy through Commander Barry, officers, men. Vickeburg indispensable to success. Funston loudly praises navy. Entire army joins in thanks to sea service.

The transaction was brilliant in conception and faultless in execution. All credit must go to Funston, who, under supervision of General Wheaton, organized and conducted expedition from start to finish. His reward should be signal and immediate with General Wheaton, who recommends Funston's retention in volunteers until he can be appointed brigadier general of regulars.

I hope speedy cessation of hostilities throughout the archipelago as consequence this stroke against Filipinos. Aguinaldo will issue address advising general surrender, delivery arms, acceptance American supremacy.

(Signed) MACARTHUR.

The conferences in "probable progress," referred to in the dispatch are believed at the war department to mean conferrences with other insurgent leaders by army officers or by the Taft commission.

Some Flittings that are Taking Place.

Moving time is upon us and everywhere you look, you see flittings. Among those that we learned of are the following: Robert Morris is moving from West Linn street to rooms in the Bush House. J. K. McFarlane is moving from the McKee property on Willowbank street to his own residence on East Linn street. J. W. Gephart and family are moving from the Bush House to John C. Miller's property on East Linn street. David Kelly is moving from his cosy flat in the Criders Exchange to the Potter house on North Spring street. Jennie Morgan will occupy quarters in the Crider block. Frank Sasserman will go into the Foster property on South Water street and Letter Carrier Ed. Woods will take the house vacated by him on Thomas street. Robert Moyer is moving from the Harper house on West High street to Sunbury and Austin Peters and family will occupy his house. Dr. McEntire will move from East Bishop St., to D. C. Stines residence on North Thomas street. Asher Adams who lives on Reynolds Avenue is moving to Harrisburg. James H. Rine will move from Reynolds Avenue to the McCafferty house on West High street. Mrs. Agnes Moore is leaving rooms in Lyons block and taking up quarters in the Criders Exchange. Linn Bottorf has moved his family from Lemont to this place and will occupy the Utz property on East Bishop street. Mr. and Mrs. George Hazel will go to housekeeping in the house now occupied by J. W. Houser on East Bishop street, and J. W. Houser will move in one of G. Haags houses.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

Supervisor's Take Warning.

The decision of Judge Woodward, of the Luzern courts, against the right of a supervisor to employ members of his own family or teams owned by themselves in the work of road repairs should be generally known. The laws very properly forbid the public officials from profiting by their own delegated authority in the matter of contracts, and this decision would no doubt be reaffirmed by the most of the Judges of the state were the matter properly brought before them. Persons violating so plain a principle of law cannot legally collect the money alleged to be due for such services. The decision is in harmony with the law as well as with common sense, and its enforcement would aid in preventing a very common abuse in the case of such officials.

A Happy Wedding.

Elliott Wasson, the efficient engineer at Kistler's tannery, in Clinton county, and Miss Sadie Whiteleather were united in holy wedlock at noon Wednesday, by Rev. D. E. Rupley at the parsonage at Lock Haven. The bride is the daughter of a prominent Centre county farmer, and is held in high esteem by her many friends at home. Mr. Wasson is an industrious and well known young man and deserves the happiness in store for him. They have a home prepared and will go to housekeeping on April 1.

Pill-Age.

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, 10 cents a vial are planned before the most modern in medical science. They are as great an improvement over the 50 year old strong dose pill formulas as a bicycle is over an ox-cart in travel. They never gripe and they never fail. 40 doses, 10 cents—63.

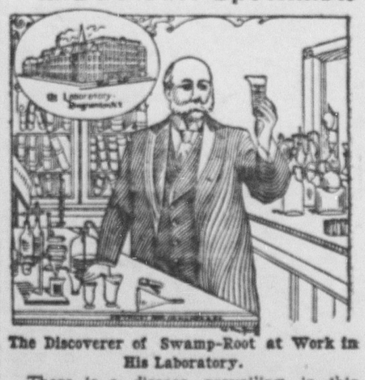
The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.



The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

DEATH'S CHILLY HAND.

Has Caused Sorrow to Enter Through The Portals of Many Centre County Homes

MISS ALICE HEVERLY.

"Oh death where is thy sting, oh grave thy victory." It is with hearts filled with sorrow that we chronicle the death of this bright young lady which occurred Tuesday afternoon. Her life has not been long, but in the few years that she was permitted to live she won legions of friends. She had a sweet kindly disposition, and always had a welcome smile, and a kind word for everyone. It seems very hard to understand why God chooses the bright, shining lights from among His children, but we are not supposed to understand His workings but say, all is well, not our wills but His be done. On Monday she told her mother, who has patiently nursed her through her siege of illness, that she wanted to go home to her Heavenly Father so much, and that she didn't want them to weep for her when she was gone that she felt so happy that the time had come for her to go.

She took sick last April with enlargement of the spleen and her physicians did everything in their power to help her, they even called a specialist from Altoona Dr. Feltnell, and he said everything had been done, and that he could not help her. She leaves to mourn her departure a mother and father, one sister and four brothers, namely Mrs. Thomas Howley, Elmer, of Punxsutawney, Alfred, Gust and Edward of Bellefonte.

Miss Heverly was born at Axe Mann, and was 20 years, 7 months and 19 days old. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and a member of the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor society. The funeral will take place from her late home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock: Rev. Dr. Laurie officiating. Interment in Union cemetery.

MRS. JOHN M. SOURBECK, JR.

It is with extreme regret that we chronicle the death of Emma Curtin Sourbeck, wife of John M. Sourbeck Jr., which sad event occurred Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of John Sourbeck Sr., on East Bishop street. Her death was due to that scourge of our northern clime consumption of which she had been a patient sufferer for the past 7 months.

Deceased was born at Wallace Run, Centre county, and would have been 21 years old had she lived until Easter Sunday. Her maiden name was Emma Curtin and her parents are both dead.

She was married January 18th, 1900, to John Sourbeck Jr., of this place who survives her with an infant son, Marland Joseph. A sister, Mrs. Bruce Peters, of Milesburg, and a half brother Harry McClincy, of Runville, also survive.

Deceased was a member of the United Brethren church for many years, and was a consistant christian lady.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Sourbeck home on Bishop street. Interment at Wallace Run; Rev. Hummel officiating.

The pall bearers, were Messrs. Sam'l Hart, Sam'l Taylor, Sam'l Loper, Homer Barnes, Gust Heverly and Roger Bayard.

MRS. LINN MURPHY.

The remains of Mrs. Linn Murphy, who died at her home in Jamaica, Long Island, Sunday morning at half past five of lung trouble arrived in Bellefonte Monday evening and were taken to the home of her aunt Mrs. S. A. Bell, on East Howard street, where the funeral services occurred Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Wilford P. Shriner, pastor of the Methodist church officiated assisted by Rev. Thomas Levan Bickle, pastor of the Reformed church. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Deceased was born in Bellefonte and was aged 36 years the 2nd of last October. Her maiden name was Minnie Crosthwaite, and she was the daughter of Robert H. Crosthwaite, formerly of this place but now of Altoona. Nine years ago she was united in marriage to Linn Murphy and has since resided in New York state. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, 3 children, Caroline, Elsie and Minnie, her father, one sister Mrs. Chas. Schreyer, of Altoona, and two brothers, Frank, of State College, and Walter of New York.

She was a member of the Methodist church and a consistent christian lady. Many beautiful floral tributes were received among the number being a pillow of roses and calla lilies sent by the employees of the power house where Mr. Murphy is employed.

THOMAS M'CAFFERTY.

Word was received here Thursday morning from Martin McCafferty stating that the man killed in the freight wreck at Mineral Point on the Pennsylvania railroad Wednesday night, March 20th was undoubtedly his brother Thomas McCafferty, of Bellefonte. He identified the clothing belonging to the dead. With the clothes was $4.00 in money, a sacred heart badge, a pair of scapulars and a picture of little Mary Brown, daughter of Edward Brown, Jr., a neice of the dead man. This makes the identification positive.

When Martin parted company with his brother at Altoona the latter said he was going to stop off at Johnstown to see an old friend, Eugene Bradley, formerly of this place, who was lying in the hospital there completely paralyzed from being buried under a fall of coal while at work in the mines.

The unfortunate young man was the son of the late Richard McCafferty, of this place, and was born in Bellefonte 35 years ago the 3rd of last September. He was very popular among a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in this place who will sincerely mourn his untimely end. He was a member of St. John's Catholic church of this city.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine McCafferty, two brothers, James and Martin, and one sister, Mrs. Edward Brown, Jr., all of Bellefonte.

The remains arrived in Bellefonte Thursday evening on the 8:30 train and were taken to the McCafferty home on East Logan street. The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

The pall-bearers were R. B. Taylor, Patrick Garrity, Thomas Sexton, William Howley, John Bower and Joseph McSuley.

EPHRIAM LEWIS.

Ephriam Lewis passed peacefully away at his home near Dix Station, Bald Eagle valley, March 27, 1901, aged 65 years 3 mo. and 18 days, survived by 2 children, Amos, of Sharpsville, Pa., and Mollie at home; also the following brothers and sisters: Samuel, James and David, of Dix; Miles, 3 miles north of Bald Eagle; Martin, of Pitcairn; Joshua, of Tyrone, and Harriet and Anna at home. Funeral took place Friday, March 29, at Cross Roads in Warriorsmark valley. Services were held at the house by Rev. Rymer of the U. B. church Tyrone.

Junior Oratorical Preliminaries.

Fifteen young ladies and gentlemen of the Junior class of the Bellefonte High school competed on Monday afternoon for place in the Junior Oratorical contest at the forth coming school commencement. The work of the young ladies and gentlemen in the preliminary contest afforded great pleasure and enjoyment to the large number of visitors present and reflected no little credit upon their class, their instructors as well as themselves. Indeed so admirably did all acquit themselves that the judges of the contest had considerable difficulty in selecting from the oratorial class the ten who are to participate in the Commencement Junior oratoricals. The fortunate competitors were: Kathryn Musser, Helen Crissman, Nettie Kern, Bertha Faxon, Helen Schaffer, James Taylor, Irvin Noll, Strohm Lose, William Brouse and Lee Adams. While the judges were reaching their conclusions Sen. Heinle and D. F. Fortney Esq., entertained the audience with brief but interesting talks. The High school room in which the exercises occurred was tastefully decorated and several musical numbers added to the pleasure of the afternoon.

The program was as follows:

Irvin Noll.....Change
Kathryn Musser....Eve Before the Battle of Waterloo.
James Taylor.....The Unknown Speaker
Helen Crissman.....The Famine
Strohm Lose.....Salathiel to Titus
Luella Shook.....Virginia
Hurley Yorks....The Stability of our Government
Arthur Grauer. .The Heroism of Horatia Nelson.
Harold Kirk....The University, the Training Camp of the Future.
Nettie Kern.....The Wrong Road
Bruce Underwood....Spartacus to the Roman Envoys.
Bertha Faxon.....The Soul of the Violin
William Brouse.....The Unknown Rider
Lee Adams.....Burgoyne's Surrender
Helen Schaeffer.....Nydia's Sacrifice

Reserved Seats for the Fowler Lecture.

The committee having in the charge the Fowler lecture in the Court House next Monday evening, have yielded to the urgent request of a large number of our citizens and have reserved the seats in the bar by the addition of 25c to the price of the general admission which is 50c. This was done at the request of those who desire to attend the lecture and have not the time to "go early and avoid the rush." The number of reserved seats will be limited to 200 and will be confined to the bar inclosure. Indications point to a packed house and to those who are desirous of hearing this famous lecture and want to be sure of a seat we would urge the purchase of a reserved seat ticket. Those who have already secured the general admission tickets can exchange them for reserved seat tickets at Rees' grocery store by the payment of an additional 25c. A 75c ticket will insure you a seat. You must take your chances on a 50c admission.

The Masterpiece of a Master of Oratory.

Bishop Chas. H. Fowler who will preach the morning sermon at the reopening of the Bellefonte Methodist Episcopal Church on Easter Sunday and deliver his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" in the Court House on Monday evening of next week is regarded as the most brilliant orator of the Methodist Church, a distinction that at once places him in the front rank of masters of rhetoric, elocution and oratory. His "Abraham Lincoln" lecture is his masterpiece. The New York Christian Advocate in speaking of this lecture says: "The lecture is magnificently planned, and was delivered with almost unequaled fervor and force. For more than two hours the speaker held his audience, and his grip upon their attention remained unbroken from exordium to peroration. It was a splendid intellectual feat."

United Brethren Church Entertainment.

This Thursday evening the ladies Aid society of the United Brethren church will hold an entertainment in their cosy little church on the corner of High and Thomas streets. A very pretty program has been arranged which includes solos, recitations, dialogues and chorus singing. A very pretty part on the program is that of the "Ten Virgins" and another of "Uncle Phleanus Strawpile" and his wife "Samantha" going to Chicago to see the sights and to visit the stock yards. If you wish to spend an evening pleasantly why not go to this entertainment and we assure you a good time.
